Lunde, 2009-05-11 An excellent history of the often overlooked WWII campaign in which Hitler secured a vital resource lifeline for the Third Reich Library Journal After Hitler conquered Poland and was still fine tuning his plans against France the British began to exert control over the coastline of neutral Norway an action that threatened to cut off Germany s iron ore conduit to Sweden and outflank from the start its hegemony on the Continent The Germans responded with a dizzying series of assaults using every tool of modern warfare developed in the previous generation Airlifted infantry mountain troops and paratroopers were dispatched to the north seizing Norwegian strongpoints while forestalling larger but more cumbersome Allied units The German navy also set sail taking a brutal beating at the hands of Britannia but ensuring with its sacrifice that key harbors would be held open for resupply As dive bombers soared overhead small but elite German units traversed forbidding terrain to ambush Allied units trying to forge inland At Narvik some six thousand German troops battled twenty thousand French and British until the Allies were finally forced to withdraw by the great disaster in France which had then gotten underway Henrik Lunde a native Norwegian and former US Special Operations colonel has written the most objective account to date of a campaign in which twentieth century military innovation found its first fertile playing field
