Filling the Afghan Security Gap: Women's Education as a Means for Weakening the Taliban

“The world cannot achieve a sustainable, peaceful, and prosperous future without investing in girls’ education,” wrote Malala Yousafzai, student and girls’ education activist (xvii). Households depend on women, especially when men have left the home to fight. Expanding girls’ education, thus maximizing women’s economic potential, directly contributes to a family’s prosperity (Sloan). Therefore, in a country like Afghanistan, where the militant Islamic Taliban preys on poverty for recruitment, women’s education is crucial to building peace. Since the mission of my bureau, the U.S. Agency for International Development Bureau for Democracy, Conflict, and Humanitarian Assistance (USAID DCHA), is to “end extreme poverty and promote resilient, democratic societies,” we will take charge of expanding women’s education to spur development. However, we recognize that the Taliban’s attacks on girls’ schools constrain women’s educational opportunities. Thus, our chief strategy will be to disseminate educational technologies—rather than solely build schools—so that women can flexibly adapt their educational schedules to regional conditions.

Morality in Discourse Michael Haugh, Rosina Márquez-Reiter, 2025-01-12 Morality is pervasive touching all aspects of social life The contributors to this volume provide an introduction to research on how morality is socially constructed in and through discourse and the implications of this for the empirical analysis and theorization of morality The volume addresses both how morality gets done through everyday practices as well as the practical concerns that discussions of morality inevitably entail It does so by delving into how morality is socially constructed in an array of communicative environments through the lens of a range of different discourse analytic traditions Drawing on the conceptual tools of moral stance positioning responsiveness and authority the chapters address the ways in which morality is enacted interactionally negotiated contested and policed What emerges from these discussions and analyses is an understanding of morality from a discursive perspective that encompasses both morality as action in which moral stances become the articulated object of action and moral framing in which the situated context itself is morally charged for evaluation
