

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to express the deepest appreciation to my committee chair, Professor Godfrey-Sykes Irvine, who has the attitude and the substance of a genius: he continually and convincingly conveyed a spirit of adventure in regard to research and scholarship, and an excitement in regard to teaching. Without his guidance and persistent help this dissertation would not have been possible.

I would like to thank my committee members, Professor M. Chaphaga Tridactyla and Professor Marmaduke Orange, whose work demonstrated to me that concern for global affairs supported by an “engagement” in comparative literature and modern technology should always transcend academia and provide a quest for our times.

In addition, a thank you to Professor V. Milicic of Western University, who introduced me to Linguistics, and whose enthusiasm for the “underlying structures” had lasting effect. I thank the University of Chicago Press for permission to include copyrighted photographs as part of my thesis/dissertation. I also thank Springer Verlag for permission to include Chapter Five of my dissertation, which was originally published in Linguistics Journal. Financial support was provided by the University of California, Irvine, NSF Grant DEB-8227052 and a MacArthur predoctoral fellowship in International Peace and Security granted by the Social Science Research Council.

How to Write a PhD in Biological Sciences John Measey, 2021-11-29 You don t have to be a genius to write a PhD Of course it will always involve a lot of hard work and dedication but the process of writing is a whole lot easier if you understand the basic ground rules This book is a guide through the dos and don ts of writing a PhD It will be your companion from the point when you decide to do a PhD providing practical guidance to getting started all the way through the nuts and bolts of the writing and editing process It will also help you to get and stay in the right mental framework and establish good habits from the beginning putting you in a commanding position later on Examples are tailored to the biological sciences offering a unique reference for PhD students in these disciplines Embarking on a PhD doesn t need to be daunting even if it s your first experience working within academia Each short section focuses on writing considered by many to be the most difficult aspect of a PhD and delves into a practical detail of one aspect from the title to the supplementary material Whether you re a student just starting your studies an early career researcher or a supervisor struggling to cope the book provides the insider information you need to get ahead Synthesizing Synchronous Systems by Static Scheduling in Space-Time Björn Lisper, 1989-05-10 The subject of this book is the synthesis of synchronous hardware The purpose is to provide a firm mathematical foundation for the so called space time mapping methods for hardware synthesis that have been proposed during the last few years Thus the treatment is fairly mathematical In a space time mapping method an algorithm is described as a set of atomic events with possible data dependencies between them The task is to find a mapping assigning a space time coordinate to each event so that causality is not violated and the solution is good Previous work in the area if it provided any formalism at all has relied mainly on uniform recurrence equations extensions thereof or on purely graph theoretic formulations In this project algebra is used instead and the close connection with single assignment languages is stressed Thus it is possible to generalize previous work and to give simple characterizations of the type of algorithms that can be implemented with space time mappings The results presented can be applied to hardware construction and compiler techniques for parallel computers Fostering Wellbeing through Collective Writing Practices Narelle Lemon, Aaron Bolzle, Malaika Santa Cruz, Rennie Saunders, 2025-11-18 This book explores the transformative power of collaborative writing sessions in fostering wellbeing among academics In this collection the second of two volumes the editors bring together diverse voices from around the globe offering insights into how Shut Up Write SUAW sessions are revolutionising academic practice and nurturing healthier more connected scholarly communities From remote scholars finding connection to working class academics addressing unfinished business this book illuminates the multifaceted benefits of SUAW It delves into how these sessions build resilience cultivate passion boost productivity and nurture academic identity The contributors share personal narratives practical strategies and critical reflections on how SUAW initiatives are reshaping academic culture This is essential reading for academics doctoral students and university administrators seeking innovative approaches to enhance wellbeing in higher education It offers a compelling case for integrating SUAW into academic life demonstrating its potential to combat isolation foster supportive networks and promote a more balanced approach to scholarly work Writing for Earth Scientists Stephen K. Donovan, 2017-05-08 The time has come You are an Earth scientist You've spent weeks months years working on this project now is the time to pull it together for publication You might be writing an undergraduate or graduate thesis a research paper for a leading journal a note for the newsletter of the local amateur scientific society a book review or an abstract for a specialist geological conference How do you make the transition from promising unpublished researcher to established academic author Of course the phrase academic publishing covers a multitude of sins monographs research papers book reviews conference abstracts or whatever each requires a different approach You have to decide what it is you are going to write and where to publish it There are co authors supervisors of your degree peer reviewers and editors to deal with on the way But the only way to write like an academic is to write like an academic where do you start You could do much worse than start here There are many books on how to write and be published aimed at research students and other aspiring academics Many of these are readable comprehensive and provide good advice This book is composed of numerous short chapters on this subject all directly relevant to one or more aspects of academic publishing and aimed particularly at the Earth scientists in the broadest sense Geologists will be encouraged to use the book as much as a reference as a reader dipping in to the chapters that contain relevant tips hints and comments to enable them to improve the paper that they are currently writing The book is intended to be informative readable and above all of practical application for all readers In summary the volume will be a readable compilation investigating many facets of academic publishing relevant to the Earth sciences It will be of particular interest to postgraduate students postdocs and new academics

How to write a Coursework? , 0000000000 000,2020-08-13 Graduate Research Supervision in the Developing World Erik Blair,Danielle Watson,Shikha Raturi,2020-01-03 Recognising that graduate supervisory practice is not an abstracted academic pursuit but an activity that is subjectively bounded by content and context impacted by the experiences and beliefs of supervisee and supervisor this text explores the unique dynamics of graduate supervision in the Global South as perceived and experienced by students and academics within those same contexts Bringing together contributions which reflect a rich diversity of perspectives on supervisory practices at regional universities in the Caribbean and South Pacific Graduate Research Supervision in the Developing World explores how supervisors navigate unscripted supervisory terrain contextualise supervisory best practices establish roles and relationships and work to understand supervisees needs By highlighting the effect on graduate supervision of complex sociocultural interplay and the relationship between learning environments and student success contributors look to locate best practices through analyses of stories of success and failure As the contributors demonstrate there is a need to restructure the standardised operation of graduate supervision across diverse faculties This text will be of great interest to graduate supervisors and their supervisees as well as scholars in the fields of continuing professional development and higher education in international and comparative education and Sociology of Education

The Perfect Time Span Björn Rothstein,2008 This book is the first book length study on the Swedish present perfect It provides an in depth exploration of the present perfect in English German and Swedish It is claimed that only a discourse based ExtendedNow approach fully accounts for the present perfect The main claim is that the length of the ExtendedNow interval varies cross linguistically The book is couched within the framework of the Discourse Representation Theory and also within Distributed Morphology It is shown that Swedish provides empirical evidence against all previous research in the field The following questions are investigated Is it possible to assign a single uniform meaning to the present perfect How can we account for the different readings of the perfect How can we account for the cross linguistic variation These issues are addressed from a comparative perspective by integrating previous research on the present perfect This book is of interest to all those working in the field of tense and aspect

Italian Budgeting Policy Alice Cavalieri,2023-03-14 This book assesses Italian budgetary policy over the last thirty years Covering more than three decades of political change and national transformation it considers the institutional and external factors that have shaped long term budgetary changes The book analyses the levels of expenditure allocation across varying budget categories and compares the budget bill and budget law in order to shed new light on the specific dynamics that have influenced budgetary decision making processes Overall the book provides important conclusions on the role of the budget as a governmental policy instrument the consequences of multilevel governance over national budgetary policy and the impact of national and international crises on budgetary changes With Italy being one of the most important parliamentary democracies in Europe and a key actor within the European Union these conclusions have important repercussions for other European parliamentary democracies The book will appeal to scholars and students of European public policy public administration and economic governance

Consistency and Convergence Rate of Markov Chain Quasi Monte Carlo with Examples Su Chen, 2011 Markov Chain Monte Carlo methods have been widely used in various scientific disciplines for generation of samples from distributions that are difficult to simulate directly The random numbers driving Markov Chain Monte Carlo algorithms are modeled as independent mathematical $U(0, 1)$ random variables The class of distributions that could be simulated are largely broadened by using Markov Chain Monte Carlo Quasi Monte Carlo on the other hand aims to improve the accuracy of estimation of an integral over the multidimensional unit cube By using more carefully balanced inputs under some smoothness conditions the estimation error is converging at a higher rate than plain Monte Carlo We would like to combine these two techniques so that we can sample more accurately from a larger class of distributions This method called Markov Chain quasi Monte Carlo MCQMC is the main topic of this work We are going to replace the IID driving sequence used in MCMC algorithms by a deterministic sequence which is designed to be more uniform Previously the justification for MCQMC is proved only for finite state space case We are going to extend those results to some Markov Chains on continuous state spaces We also explore the convergence rate of MCQMC under stronger assumptions Lastly we present some numerical results for demonstration of MCQMC's performance From these examples the empirical benefits of more balanced sequences are significant

Feminist Repetitions in Higher Education Maddie Breeze, Yvette Taylor, 2020-09-30 To do feminism and to be a feminist in higher education is to repeat oneself to insist on gender equality as more than institutional incorporation and diversity auditing to insert oneself into and against neoliberal measures and to argue for nuanced intersectional feminist analysis and action This book returns to established feminist strategies for taking up academic space re thinking how feminists inhabit the university and pushing back against institutional failures The authors assert the academic career course as fundamental to understanding how feminist educational journeys collaborations and cares and ways of knowing stretch across and reconstitute academic hierarchies

collectivising and politicising feminist career successes and failures By prioritising interruptions the book navigates through feminist methods of researcher reflexivity autoethnography and collective biography in doing so moving from feminist identity to feminist practice and repeating the potential of queer feminist interruptions to the university and ourselves

ELT Christoph Haase,2011-05-25 This volume represents an outgrowth of the 7th international ATECR conference which brought together researchers and educators from fields as diverse as language teaching in a variety of contexts corpus linguistics and literary studies The contributions in this volume show despite their diversity a strong common denominator an aim to bundle efforts and unify parameters in order to optimize English Language Teaching as a world wide endeavor Thus for our teaching it can only be beneficial when linguists talk to literary minded teachers or methodology specialists investigate whether their theoretical underpinnings make their way into practice by talking to language instructors or language service providers In general the authors present a multifaceted picture of the English Language Teaching context with themselves as practitioners but also as investigators and researchers at the same time The research that reflects back on their teaching thus creates a force feedback loop not only for the investigating scholar but also for the practicing instructor who reapplies his her knowledge after failed or suboptimal attempts as evidenced by the data High-Precision Automotive Radar Target Simulation Diwald, Axel ,2023-08-15 Radar target simulators RTSs deceive a radar under test RuT by creating an artificial environment consisting of virtual radar targets In this work new techniques are presented that overcome the rasterization deficiency of current RTS systems and enable the generation of virtual targets at arbitrary high precision positions This allows for continuous movement of the targets and thus a more credible simulation environment

Kinship and Clientage Alison Cathcart,2006-05-01 This volume examines Highland society during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries highlighting the extent to which kinship and clientage were organising principles within clanship Based on clans located in the central and eastern Highlands this study goes some way to addressing the imbalance in Highland historiography which hitherto has concentrated largely on the west Highlands and islands Focusing initially on internal clan structure the study broadens into an analysis of local politics within the context of regional and national affairs raising questions regarding the importance of land and the nature of lordship as well as emphasising the need for Highland history to be integrated further into broader studies of Scottish society during this period RESEARCH METHODOLOGY FOR SUPER RESEARCHER Dr. Jagdish Rajaram Jadhav,2025-03-24 The purpose of writing this book is to share the experience and knowledge which I acquire along the way of my researcher and author journey This book will provide step by step practical guidance for research scholars for effective writing and publishing of research papers thesis dissertation and book The unique feature of this book is Neuro Linguistic Programming NLP techniques to boost researcher s performance It also encourages researchers to convert their thesis into book and create business opportunities around their book From the moment you start reading this book I am sure that positive transformation within will begin It will give you a different perception to look at things The decisions taken in the present may make or break your immediate and future life Create successful professional life around your research work and book Read the book and then reread the book or at least the chapters you feel are more relevant to you Apply NLP techniques and benchmarked strategies described in it into your daily routine so that they become part of your journey of successful researcher Help yourself and others to create a successful researcher s life powered by NLP techniques and benchmarked practices I am sure that you will be immensely benefitted from this book

Ontological Fundamentals for Ethical Management Dominik Heil,2011-07-06 The book develops a philosophical foundation to the field of management education using the work of Martin Heidegger as a guiding philosophy It asks the questions what is a corporation and what is corporate management These two questions are foundational for management thought in general and management ethics in particular Most other academic fields are in some way defined and guided by a philosophical discourse This philosophical discourse is largely missing in the field of management thought and education Without this foundation it can never be clear what actually belongs into a certain academic discipline and what does not It also therefore lacks a sound and well articulated ontological foundation critical for developing approaches to ethical management This book seeks to fill this gap and consequently represents an interdisciplinary effort between the academic field of management business administration and philosophy which is vital for business ethics Intended as required reading for an elective on philosophy of management that is offered annually at the Wits Business School University of the Witwatersrand Johannesburg The structure of the course will be largely based on the structure of the book

Hydropower Plants and Power Systems Weijia Yang,2019-04-13 This book reports on a comprehensive study addressing the dynamic responses of hydropower plants under diverse conditions and disturbances and analyzes their stability and oscillations Multiple models based on eight existing hydropower plants in Sweden and China were developed and used for simulations and theoretical analysis with various degrees of complexity and for different purposes and compared with on site measurements for validations The book offers important insights into the understanding of the hydraulic mechanical and electrical coupling mechanisms up to market conditions and incentives It recommends control strategies for a more stable and efficient operation of hydropower plants
