Reading Mystery Science Theater 3000 Shelley S. Rees, 2013-05-09 First broadcast in the not too distant past on a television station in Minnesota Mystery Science Theater 3000 soon grew out of its humble beginnings and found a new home on cable television This simple show about a man and two robots forced to watch bad movies became a cult classic and episodes of the series continue to be packaged in DVD collections to this day Before its final run the show received Emmy nominations and a Peabody award for Television excellence and in 2007 Time magazine declared MST3K one of The 100 Best Shows of All Time In Reading Mystery Science Theater 3000 Critical Approaches Shelley S Rees presents a collection of essays that examines the complex relationship between narrative and audience constructed by this baffling but beloved television show Invoking literary theory cultural criticism pedagogy feminist criticism humor theory rhetorical analysis and film and media studies these essays affirm the show s narrative and rhetorical intricacy The first section Rhetoric and the Empowered Audience addresses MST3K s function as an exercise in rhetorical resistance Part Two Mystery Science Theater 3000 and Genre analyzes MST3K through distinct generic traditions including humor studies traditional science fiction tropes and the B movie Finally the third section addresses postmodern and intertextual readings of the show By providing an academic treatment of an iconic television phenomenon these essays argue that Mystery Science Theater 3000 is worthy of serious scholarly attention Though aimed at a discerning readership of academics this collection will also appeal to the intellectual nature of the show s well educated audience

Hamlet H. S. Toshack, 2003

Shakespeariana; a critical and contemporary review of Shakespearian literature , 1885

Questions for Examination in English Literature , 1873

Philosophical Meta-Reflections on Literary Studies Jibu Mathew George, 2019-11-29 Philosophical Meta Reflections on Literary Studies takes up key meta questions in the humanities with focus on contemporary literary studies philosophically examines the nature of knowledge therein as well as the implications of certain popular critical approaches and addresses the effervescent question of relevance In contrast to usual works on literary theory or on philosophy of literature for that matter this book presents an integrated meta reasoning on the foundational questions of literary studies from an interdisciplinary perspective in a manner of intertextual informality

It endeavours to articulate a rationale for the humanities in general and literary studies in particular. It philosophically examines the implications of and assumptions behind three popular tendencies in contemporary literary criticism: textual deconstruction, ideological criticism, and constructivism. It also introduces the reader to possibilities of non-reductive reasoning with regard to the relation between the aesthetic and the political. With his multidisciplinary background, doctoral degree, and encyclopedic author James Joyce and past engagements with vital issues in the humanities literature, Jibu George is in a position to deal with foundational questions therein.

Dialogues on Cultural Studies Arif Dirlik, 2002. A collection of interviews with some of North America's foremost cultural critics and theorists including Frederic Jameson, J. Hillis Miller, Hayden White, etc. Covers topics such as culture, ideology, history, modernity, post-modernity, post-colonialism, globalisation, the role of the university, and the role of the intellectual in today's society. Some of the contributions are essays, others are responses to questions, and some take up all the subjects and some only focus on one subject. Includes a discussion about how cultural studies will help developing nations on the periphery of cultural studies such as China to look to the future.
