2 pages | 476 words

As a child I have repeatedly favor writing over reading. I remember in elementary school all the way up until my sophomore year of high school, I had the very low reading scores and classes. Reason being wasn't because I wasn't understanding the material it was more than I didn't want to read or do the assignments. But unlike my reading my writing has always been great. I have always had a special thing for writing but never reading. Communication through writing is so more powerful than people think. I find it extremely interesting and always have had love for writing. When I say writing I don't just mean essays, I mean anything from writing what I learned in class to making up a cooler version of fairytales. But in my sophomore year of high school my interest in reading took a whole 360. We had a book report assignment on And then there were none by Agatha Christie. Immediately when I got handed the book the cover caught my eye instantly. Before I could read the books synopsis, I admired the books cover photo. It was a dark grey spooky feeling mansion on water. Which to me was completely out the usual considering I had low scoring classes with kid books. Since this wasn't a boring looking book and I had to pass my English class to graduate I said to myself "Give it a chance for once." I began to read the book, I could not find myself to put it down. I remember taking a pause and thinking "am I really into this book?" Day in and day out my face would be in the book and taking notes about what I read in every chapter. I was stun when I finished the whole book in just three days. When I had mentioned it to my family, they didn't believe me until I showed all my notes. I couldn't blame them for not believing me. Hey, I never did read in any other class or even thought about it. After reading through my notes and criteria required for the book report. I was excited because I had almost everything. I needed for my report in just the first week of getting the assignment. After finishing my book report, it took me 2 weeks from start to finish. We had a month to get everything done but I got ahead by a bit. When turning in my paper and hearing my teacher say, "wow you must really like to read." I then thought to myself "hmm I guess I do." I then realized that I do enjoy reading. But not only because it gives me something to do but also because I can write about it afterwards. This process helped me realized that I do like to read and that its just as fun as writing.

Literacy, Narrative and Culture Jens Brockmeier, David R Olson, Min Wang, 2013-12-16 An important contribution to the multi disciplinary study of literacy narrative and culture this work argues that literacy is perhaps best described as an ensemble of socially and historically embedded activities of cultural practices It suggests viewing written language producing and distributing deciphering and interpreting signs are closely related to other cultural practices such as narrative and painting The papers of the first and second parts illustrate this view in contexts that range from the pre historical beginnings of tracking signs in hunter gatherer cultures and the emergence of modern literate traditions in Europe in the 17th to 19th century to the future of electronically mediated writing in times of the post Gutenberg galaxy The chapters of the third present results of recent research in developmental and educational psychology Contributions by leading experts in the field make the point that there is no theory and history of writing that does not presuppose a theory of culture and social development At the same time it demonstrates that every theory and history of culture must unavoidably entail a theory and history of writing and written culture This book brings together perspectives on literacy from psychology linguistics history and sociology of literature philosophy anthropology and history of art It addresses these issues in plain language not coded in specialized jargon and addresses a multi disciplinary forum of scholars and students of literacy narrative and culture

Literacy Practices and Perceptions of Agency Bronwyn T. Williams, 2017-07-06 In this book Bronwyn T Williams explores how perceptions of agency whether a person perceives and feels able to read and write successfully in a given context are critical in terms of how people perform their literate identities Drawing on interviews and observations with students in several countries he examines the intersections of the social and the personal in relation to how and crucially why people engage successfully or struggle painfully in literacy practices and what factors and forces they regard as enabling or constraining their actions Recognizing such moments and patterns can help teachers and researchers rethink their approaches to teaching to facilitate students sense of agency as writers and readers

Writing the Classroom Stephen E. Neaderhiser, 2022-11-21 Writing the Classroom explores how faculty compose and use pedagogical documents to establish classroom expectations and teaching practices as well as to articulate the professional identities they perform both inside and outside the classroom The contributors to this unique collection employ a wide range of methodological frameworks to demonstrate how pedagogical genres even ones as seemingly straightforward as the class syllabus have lives extending well beyond the classroom as they become part of how college teachers represent their own academic identities advocate for pedagogical values and negotiate the many external forces that influence the act of teaching Writing the Classroom shines a light on genres that are often treated as two dimensional with purely functional purposes arguing instead that genres like assignment prompts course proposals teaching statements and policy documents play a fundamental role in constructing the classroom and the broader pedagogical enterprise within academia Writing the Classroom calls on experienced teachers and faculty administrators to critically consider their own engagement with pedagogical genres and offers graduate students and newer faculty insight into the genres that they may only now be learning to inhabit as they seek to establish their personal teacherly identities It showcases the rhetorical complexity of the genres written in the service of pedagogy not only for students but also for the many other audiences within academia that have a role in shaping the experience of teaching Contributors Michael Albright Lora Arduser Lesley Erin Bartlett Logan Bearden Lindsay Clark Dana Comi Zack K De Piero Matt Dowell Amy Ferdinandt Stolley Mark A Hannah Megan Knight Laura R Micciche Cindy Mooty Dustin Morris Kate Navickas Kate Nesbit Jim Nugent Lori A Ostergaard Cynthia Pengilly Jessica Rivera Mueller Christina Saidy Megan Schoen Virginia Schwarz Christopher Toth      Reading Critically, Writing Well Rise B. Axelrod, Charles R. Cooper, Ellen Carillo, 2019-10-03 With more critical reading coverage than any other composition text Reading Critically Writing Well helps students read for meaning and read like a writer A robust catalog of reading strategies complement assignment chapters that cover four expository genres including autobiography literacy narratives and reflection and four argumentative genres including evaluation and proposal Each chapter starts with a guide to reading that challenges students to analyze the authors techniques and concludes with a step by step guide to writing and revising that helps them apply these techniques to their own essays The provocative readings throughout represent an array of topics and disciplines This new edition brings on noted reading scholar Ellen Carillo University of Connecticut and provides more opportunities for students to learn and practice complex reading and writing strategies with a new emphasis on inquiry curiosity and habits of mind Accessible instruction engaging readings and effective writing assignments make Reading Critically Writing Well ideal for instructors who want to demonstrate critical analysis and the effective rhetorical choices that students can make in their own writing      The Tellurians: Argos Betty J White, 2019-08-03 With a focus on heroes adventure and the future Kim Lan Nguyen applies to the Astronauts for the Colonization of Mars Program thinking that she has one chance in a million of being selected The problem is that Kim Lan wins that chance in a million      Axelrod & Cooper's Concise Guide to Writing Rise B. Axelrod, Charles R. Cooper, 2011-10-19 Adapted from the best selling St Martin s Guide to Writing Axelrod and Cooper s Concise Guide to Writing provides streamlined versions of the chapters covering six of the most commonly assigned genres in the first year writing course remembering events writing profiles explaining concepts arguing a position proposing a solution and justifying an evaluation The careful integration of well chosen readings with guided writing instruction in these chapters is complemented by coverage of strategies for reading writing and research in brief but complete chapters at the end of the book Read the preface Professionalizing Multimodal Composition Santosh Khadka,Shyam B. Pandey,2023-06-15

Multimodal composition is becoming increasingly popular in university classrooms as faculty students and institutions come to recognize that old and new technologies have enabled and even demanded the use of more than one composing mode for communicating solving problems and keeping up with the latest discourse Professionalizing Multimodal Composition embraces and enacts multimodal composition in various writing courses and programs by exploring institutional programmatic and individual faculty initiatives for capacity building and human resource development across institutions Academic leaders scholars and faculty who have successfully designed and launched academic programs or faculty development initiatives discuss the theoretical and logistical questions considered in their design the outcomes they achieved and how others can emulate them This exchange of knowledge insight experiences and lessons learned among community members is critical for enabling or inspiring other programs departments and institutions to conceive design and launch academic programs or faculty development initiatives for their own faculty The larger goal of professionalizing is to work with teaching faculty to increase their interactional expertise with multimodal composition and this collection offers a set of models for how faculty can do that at their own institutions and in their own programs Creating a Transnational Space in the First Year Writing Classroom W. Ordeman,2021-05-04 During the first twenty years of the new millennium many scholars turned their attention to translingualism an idea that focuses on the merging of language in distinct social and spatial contexts to serve unique mutually constitutive and temporal purposes This volume joins the more recent shift in pedagogical studies towards an altogether distinct phenomenon transnationalism By developing a framework for transnational pedagogical practice this volume demonstrates the exclusive opportunities afforded to freshmen writers who write in transnational spaces that act as points of fusion for several cultural lingual and national identities With reference to recent works on translingualism and transnationalism this volume is an attempt to conceptualize effective writing pedagogy in freshman writing courses which are becoming more and more transnational It also provides educators and first year writing administrators with practical pedagogical tools to help them use their transnational spaces as a means of achieving their desired learning outcomes as well as teaching students threshold concepts of composition studies This volume will be particularly useful for first year writing faculty at colleges and universities as well as writing program administrators to create a more effective curriculum that addresses these needs in classroom settings All scholars with a doctorate in Rhetoric and Composition English as a Second Language Translation Studies to name a few will also find this a valuable resource

Graduate Students at Work Tessa Brown,2023-02-28 Graduate Students at Work highlights the expertise and experiences of graduate students to demonstrate what graduate study entails what it makes possible and what it constrains in the context of corporatizing higher education This collection of full length research articles and short personal essays illustrates graduate students experiences organizing tactics and strategies for staying in or moving out of the academy Speaking from personal experience as well as reporting research findings the contributors of Graduate Students at Work illustrate the significant expertise that graduate students are asked to enact in their time intensive jobs as teachers researchers and administrators even as they are kept in poverty wages for the decade or so it takes to move through a master s and doctoral program into the promised land of a tenure track job While these students are the leaders of the academic labor movement they have yet to receive as much attention as adjunct instructors and other laborers in the university system Though they experience harassment discrimination and exploitation graduate students rarely have access to labor protections because they are often misclassified as students not employees a key rhetorical strategy universities use to fight graduate student organizing These essays and articles also draw insightful connections between the labor conditions of graduate student workers and other workers navigating poverty wages labor migration limited benefits and harassment and discrimination around lines of race gender ability and citizenship the most important connection perhaps being the possibility for organization and unionization to fight for better working conditions for all
