Commercial Law Reports 2014, 2014-12-31 Commercial law judgments South Africa Business, Peacebuilding, and Regulation Sean Molloy, 2024-08-26 This book examines the relationship between business based peacebuilding and the opportunities that emerge from the pluralisation of regulation The core message is notwithstanding the broad range of regulatory initiatives and actors that exist in conflict affected settings the state should assume responsibilities for defining the types of contribution that business can and ought to make to peace It also demonstrates how the state through different forms and methods of regulation is well placed to engage businesses to do so It is particularly concerned with the potential for regulation to help address what is identified as a state of optimistic uncertainty in the field of business and peacebuilding On one level there is a sense of optimism around the types of contributions that businesses can and often do make as agents for peace On another there are varying degrees of uncertainty surrounding the actual peacebuilding impacts of business activities how businesses are to understand the ways in which to make these contributions and why businesses would do so Regulation this book will argue can play an important role in bridging the chasm between optimism and uncertainty This book will be of interest to those engaged not only with business and peacebuilding but also business and human rights business and development and business and the environment Moreover this book is also of contemporary interest in other ways the aftermath of the Ukrainian conflict as an example will require a concerted effort to rebuild that society after war Private sector actors could be a powerful vehicle for reconstruction and development and this book examines how regulation can be used to facilitate businesses involvement in peacebuilding efforts ECRM 2020 20th European Conference on Research Methodology for Business and Management Studies Dr. Manuel Au-Yong-Oliveira, Professor Carlos Costa, 2020-06-18 The European Conference on Research Methodology for Business and Management Studies was established 19 years ago This event has been held in countries across Europe including Ireland England France Malta Portugal Spain to mention only a few of the countries who have hosted it The conference is generally attended by participants from more than 25 countries The Electronic Journal of Business Research Methods indexed by Scopus publishes a special edition of the best papers presented at this conference The conference once again played host to the Innovation in Teaching of Research Methodology Excellence Awards Acid Mine Drainage and its Governance in the Gauteng City-Region Kerry Bobbins, 2015-05-29 Acid mine drainage AMD has generated an enormous amount of media interest and public concern in the Gauteng City Region GCR over the last decade However it has been framed as a narrow technical concern with government action being directed towards securing the necessary engineering and processing solutions as quickly as possible to prevent decant and treat acid mine water to industrial standards This has arguably limited the scope for full discussion and debate on the impacts of AMD particularly for the environment and this bears implications for how AMD has been managed in the GCR Government s immediate short and long term interventions to address AMD have been set out as a straight forward solution but over time more complex environmental concerns have emerged. Becoming more evident over the last few years is that one of the main impacts of AMD will be its effect on the overall water security in the Vaal River System VRS on which the GCR relies for its supply of potable water. Limits on water abstraction from the VRS together with the increasing need to maintain the overall water quality in the system through dilution and treatment activities means that AMD is beginning to manifest as a binding constraint on economic development and a burden on society in particular via escalating costs for water consumers. Fiscal constraints are likely to see GCR residents and businesses pick up more and more of the costs associated with the treatment of AMD through the format of increased municipal tariffs. With final decisions on municipal tariffs now pending the broader yet invisible impacts of AMD loom large. This means that the debate has moved far beyond the issue of predicted decant in each of the Witwatersrand's mining basins. Water security for the GCR and who will carry the costs associated with the long term treatment of AMD have instead taken centre stage. This paper carefully updates the historical record on AMD since the publishing of a GCRO Provocation on the issue in 2010. In doing so it argues that the way in which AMD has been governed raises a flag around how the political economy of an issue such as AMD should be understood publicly debated and managed. In particular it suggests that the governance of an environmental challenge such as AMD is not only about finding a technical solution. The lack of platforms to ensure well informed public deliberation especially over such issues as who will pay and how must be addressed to ensure more equitable and transparent decision making. In light of the broader mine waste legacy inherited by the GCR and the strong likelihood of environmental contamination becoming more commonplace in the future these concerns are not only limited to AMD. They will only grow in importance over time.

Knowledge and Change in African Universities Michael

Cross, amasa ndofirepi, 2017-01-28. Besides the ongoing concern with the epistemological and theoretical hegemony of the West in African academic practice the book aims at understanding how knowledge is produced and controlled through the interplay of the politics of knowledge and current intellectual discourses in universities in Africa. In this regard the book calls for African universities to relocate from the position of object to subject in order to gain a form of liberated epistemological voice more responsive to the social and economic complexities of the continent. In itself this is a critical exposé of contemporary practices in knowledge advancement in the continent. Broadly the book addresses the following questions: How can African universities reinvent knowledge production and dissemination in the face of the dominant Eurocentrism so pervasive and characteristic of academic practice in Africa to enhance their relevance to the contexts in which they operate? How can such change particularly at knowledge production and distribution levels be undertaken without falling into an intellectual and discursive ghettoization in the global context? What then is the role of academics, policy makers and curriculum and program designers in dealing with biases and distortions to integrate policies, knowledge and pedagogy that reflect current cultural diversity both local and global? Against this backdrop while some contributions in this book argue that emancipatory epistemic voice in African universities is not yet born or it is struggling with little success many dissenting voices charge that if Africans do not take responsibility and construct knowledge strategies for their own emancipation who will

Bombardier Abroad David P. Thomas, 2018-10-10T00:00:00Z In Bombardier Abroad Thomas examines several cases of the Canadian aerospace giant's work in the high speed rail sector in South Africa China Tibet and Israel Palestine and argues that these projects are deepening existing social and political tensions By participating in these infrastructure projects Thomas argues Bombardier is both inserting itself into highly contested social and political climates and profiting from actions that further exacerbate existing conditions of dispossession and inequality Thomas also examines the various ways in which the Canadian state supports the work of Bombardier in these countries Centred around a theoretical framework that combines concepts of dispossession political economy and important interventions from the field of settler colonial studies Bombardier Abroad is a critical look at the problematic practices of a Canadian corporation and the ways in which the Canadian state is culpable
