Code-Choice and Identity Construction on Stage Sirkku Aaltonen,2020-06-01 Code Choice and Identity Construction on Stage challenges the general assumption that language is only one of the codes employed in a theatrical performance Sirkku Aaltonen changes the perspective to the audience foregrounding the chosen language variety as a trigger for their reactions Theatre is the most public of arts closely interwoven with contemporary society and language is a crucial tool for establishing order In this book Aaltonen explores the ways in which chosen languages on stage can lead to rejection or tolerance in diglossic situations where one language is considered unequal to another Through a selection of carefully chosen case studies the socio political rather than artistic motivation behind code choice emerges By identifying common features of these contexts and the implications of theatre in the wider world this book sheds light on high versus low culture the role of translation and the significance of traditional and emerging theatrical conventions This intriguing study encompassing Ireland Scotland Quebec Finland and Egypt cleverly employs the perspective of familiarising the foreign and is invaluable reading for those interested in theatre and performance translation and the connection between language and society

Ethnicity in Zimbabwe Enocent Msindo,2012 A comparative study of identity shifts in two large ethnic groups in Matabeleland Zimbabwe Ethnicity in Zimbabwe Transformations in Kalanga and Ndebele Societies 1860 1990 is a comparative study of identity shifts in two large ethnic groups in Matabeleland Zimbabwe The study begins in 1860 a year after the establishment of the Inyati mission station in the Ndebele Kingdom and ends in the postcolonial period Author Enocent Msindo asserts that despite what many social historians have argued the creation of ethnic identity in Matabeleland was not solely the result of colonial rule and the new colonial African elites but that African ethnic consciousness existed prior to this time formed and shaped by ordinary members of these ethnic groups During this period the interaction of the Kalanga and Ndebele fed the development of complex ethnic regional cultural and subnationalist identities By examining the complexities of identities in this region Msindo uncovers hidden alternative and unofficial histories contested claims to land and civic authority the politics of language the struggles of communities defined as underdogs and the different ways by which the dominant Ndebele have dealt with their regional others the Kalanga The book ultimately demonstrates the ways in which debates around ethnicity and other identities in Zimbabwe and in Matabeleland in particular relate to wider issues in both rural and urban Zimbabwe
