

The Payment Process in SAP Business One – Purchasing

Outgoing Payment:

Payment Means:

- Check
- Credit Card
- Cash
- Bank Transfer

Outgoing Payments

- Working with outgoing payments is similar to incoming payments, except of course that you pay money instead of receiving money.
- When you create an outgoing payment:
 - There is a debit to the vendor account,
 - And a credit to the bank account
- Unlike incoming payments, typically the process of manual outgoing payments does not involve clearing or temporary accounts for credit cards, checks and bank transfers. Instead, the credit posting is done directly on the bank account.
- If you wish to use a clearing or temporary account, an interim account can be manually inserted in the G/L account field in the Payment Means window. Then, when the payment is reduced from the bank, a manual entry should be created to debit the interim account and credit the bank account.
- Additionally, the payment wizard can be used to automatically generate payments against a clearing account if you define one in the House Bank Accounts – Setup window.
