

A research student weighed 40 eggs in grams and recorded the results. The following box and whisker diagram shows a summary of the results where  $L$  and  $U$  are the lower and upper quartiles respectively.

The interquartile range is 20 grams and there are no outliers in the results.

(a) Find the minimum possible value of  $U$ .

[3]

(b) Hence, find the minimum possible value of  $L$ .

$$a) IQR = U - L$$

$$x > Q_3 + 1.5 IQR \rightarrow U + 1.5(20)$$

or

$$x < Q_1 - 1.5 IQR$$

Proof Technology in Mathematics Research and Teaching

Gila Hanna,David A. Reid,Michael de Villiers,2019-10-02 This book presents chapters exploring the most recent developments in the role of technology in proving The full range of topics related to this theme are explored including computer proving digital collaboration among mathematicians mathematics teaching in schools and universities and the use of the internet as a site of proof learning Proving is sometimes thought to be the aspect of mathematical activity most resistant to the influence of technological change While computational methods are well known to have a huge importance in applied mathematics there is a perception that mathematicians seeking to derive new mathematical results are unaffected by the digital era The reality is quite different Digital technologies have transformed how mathematicians work together how proof is taught in schools and universities and even the nature of proof itself Checking billions of cases in extremely large but finite sets impossible a few decades ago has now become a standard method of proof Distributed proving by teams of mathematicians working independently on sections of a problem has become very much easier as digital communication facilitates the sharing and comparison of results Proof assistants and dynamic proof environments have influenced the verification or refutation of conjectures and ultimately how and why proof is taught in schools And techniques from computer science for checking the validity of programs are being used to verify mathematical proofs Chapters in this book include not only research reports and case studies but also theoretical essays reviews of the state of the art in selected areas and historical studies The authors are experts in the field      Resources in Education ,2001-04      Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States. Learning and Understanding National Research Council,Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education,Center for Education,Committee on Programs for Advanced Study of Mathematics and Science in American High Schools,2002-08-06 This book takes a fresh look at programs for advanced studies for high school students in the United States with a particular focus on the Advanced Placement and the International Baccalaureate programs and asks how advanced studies can be significantly improved in general It also examines two of the core issues surrounding these programs they can have a profound impact on other components of the education system and participation in the programs has become key to admission at selective institutions of higher education By looking at what could enhance the quality of high school advanced study programs as well as what precedes and comes after these programs this report provides teachers parents curriculum developers administrators college science and mathematics faculty and the educational research community with a detailed assessment that can be used to guide change within advanced study programs      2024-25 NTA UGC-NET/JRF Teaching & Research Aptitude Solved Papers YCT Expert Team , 2024 25 NTA UGC NET JRF Teaching Research Aptitude Solved Papers      Spectral Analysis in Engineering Grant Hearn,Andrew Metcalfe,1995-08-17 This text provides a thorough explanation of the underlying principles of spectral analysis and the full range of estimation techniques used in engineering The applications of these techniques are demonstrated in numerous case studies illustrating the approach required and the compromises to be made when solving real engineering problems The principles outlined in these case studies are applicable over the full range of engineering disciplines and all the reader requires is an understanding of elementary calculus and basic statistics The realistic approach and comprehensive nature of this text will provide undergraduate engineers and physicists of all disciplines with an invaluable introduction to the subject and the detailed case studies will interest the experienced professional No more than a knowledge of elementary calculus and basic statistics and probability is needed Accessible to undergraduates at any stage of their courses Easy and clear to follow      Research in Education ,1969      Integer Programming and Related Areas C. Kastning,2013-11-11 Integer Programing is one of the most fascinating and difficult areas in the field of Mathematical Optimization Due to this fact notable research contributions to Integer Programming have been made in very different branches of mathematics and its applications Since these publications are scattered over many journals proceedings volumes monographs and working papers a comprehensive bibliography of all these sources is a helpful tool even for specialists in this field I initiated this compilation of literature in 1970 at the Institut für Konometrie und Operations Research University of Bonn Since then many collaborators have contributed to and worked on it Among them Dipl Math Claus Kastning has done the bulk of the work With great perseverance and diligence he has gathered all the material and checked it with the original sources The main aim was to incorporate rare and not easily accessible sources like Russian journals preprints or unpublished papers Without the invaluable and dedicated engagement of Claus Kastning the bibliography would never have reached this final version For this reason he must be considered its responsible editor As with any other collection this literature list has a subjective viewpoint and may be in some sense incomplete We have however tried to be as complete as possible The bibliography contains 4704 different publications by 6767 authors which were classified by 11839 descriptor entries
