Waste Siege Sophia Stamatopoulou-Robbins,2019-12-10 Waste Siege offers an analysis unusual in the study of Palestine it depicts the environmental infrastructural and aesthetic context in which Palestinians are obliged to forge their lives To speak of waste siege is to describe a series of conditions from smelling wastes to negotiating military infrastructures from biopolitical forms of colonial rule to experiences of governmental abandonment from obvious targets of resistance to confusion over responsibility for the burdensome objects of daily life Within this rubble debris and infrastructural fallout West Bank Palestinians create a life under settler colonial rule Sophia Stamatopoulou Robbins focuses on waste as an experience of everyday life that is continuous with but not a result only of occupation Tracing Palestinians own experiences of wastes over the past decade she considers how multiple authorities governing the West Bank including municipalities the Palestinian Authority international aid organizations NGOs and Israel rule by waste siege whether intentionally or not Her work challenges both common formulations of waste as matter out of place and as the ontological opposite of the environment by suggesting instead that waste siege be understood as an ecology of matter with no place to go Waste siege thus not only describes a stateless Palestine but also becomes a metaphor for our besieged planet
