Crossing Histories and Ethnographies Ricardo Roque, Elizabeth G. Traube, 2019-06-20 The key question for many anthropologists and historians today is not whether to cross the boundary between their disciplines but whether the idea of a disciplinary boundary should be sustained Reinterpreting the dynamic interplay between archive and field these essays propose a method for mutually productive crossings between historical and ethnographic research It engages critically with the colonial pasts of indigenous societies and examines how fieldwork and archival studies together lead to fruitful insights into the making of different colonial historicities Timor Leste s unusually long and in some ways unique colonial history is explored as a compelling case for these crossings The Society of Accountants in Edinburgh, 1854-1914 Stephen P.

Walker, 2020-09-04 This book first published in 1988 provides an analysis of recruitment to the new profession of nineteenth century accountancy and in doing so gives an insight into the complex origins and behaviour of the emergent professional classes Unlike most studies this is a study of all recruits not only of those who succeeded in becoming qualified This permits an analysis of the whole process of recruitment including the choice of accountancy as a career option and as a vehicle of social mobility Information Sources in Engineering Roderick A. Macleod, Jim Corlett, 2012-04-17 The current thoroughly revised and updated edition of this approved title evaluates information sources in the field of technology It provides the reader not only with information of primary and secondary sources but also analyses the details of information from all the important technical fields including environmental technology biotechnology aviation and defence nanotechnology industrial design material science security and health care in the workplace as well as aspects of the fields of chemistry electro
