Consistent with the need to provide safe feeding for all infants FAO and WHO jointly convened an expert meeting on Enterobacter sakazakii and other microorganisms in powdered infant formula Geneva 2 to 5 February 2004 The workshop was organized in response to a specific request to FAO WHO for scientific advice from the Codex Committee on Food Hygiene to provide input for the revision of the Recommended International Code of Hygienic Practice for Foods for Infants and Children After reviewing the available scientific information the expert meeting concluded that intrinsic contamination of powdered infant formula with Enterobacter sakazakii and Salmonella has been a cause of infection and illness in infants including severe disease which can lead to serious developmental sequelae and death This report co published with WHO looks at a range of control strategies during both manufacture and subsequent use of powdered infant formula that may be implemented to minimize the risk      Product Packaging as Tool to Demand a Price Premium: Does Packaging Enhance Consumers' Value Perception to Justify a Price Premium Christoph Breetz, 2014-03 This study addresses the question of the impact of packaging to demand a price premium leveraging the example of retailer brand premium products in the food segment in Germany Product tiering is a pricing structure that is commonly used by producers in which consumers are segmented by willingness to pay for specific added product benefits This is a way of maximizing utility for both consumers and producers and is commonly already leveraged by producers of branded products but lately also by retailer brands especially to enable growth outside the value tier This research uses a survey across grocery purchase decision makers in Germany to identify the relationship of packaging and willingness to pay across a sample of retailer brand Tier 1 Tier 2 and Tier 3 products as well as a branded product in four different grocery categories The intent is to answer whether i packaging currently justifies the premium price of retailer brand tier 1 products compared to other product tiers ii packaging justifies the tier 1 retailer brand price premium and iii demographics influence the willingness to pay a premium price Serial Publications Indexed in Bibliography of Agriculture National Agricultural Library (U.S.),1964 Trade Association Opportunities in Marketing Research Theodore K.
