Government plans to introduce payment by results in probation services need to be redesigned in respect of women offenders who are often classified as presenting a lower risk of reoffending so that they receive the intensive tailored support they need The Government s strategic priorities for women offenders lack substance and in particular must take a broader approach to supporting women at risk of reoffending and addressing the inter generational nature of crime The Committee welcomes the Government s extension of through the gate statutory support to prisoners sentenced to less than 12 months likely to benefit many women offenders However potential providers of rehabilitative services need to recognise that levels of risk posed by women may not reflect the level of support such women require Although progress has been made since the Corston recommendations a number of concerns remain the women s prison population has not fallen sufficiently fast over half of women offenders continue to receive ineffective short custodial sentences mental health and substance misuse treatment which could reduce use of custody remains unavailable to Courts in sufficient volume Maintaining a network of women s centres and using residential alternatives to custody are likely to be more effective and cheaper in the long run than short custodial sentences The Committee does not recommend substantive changes to the overall sentencing framework but argues instead for more emphasis to be placed on ensuring courts are provided with robust alternatives to custody
