Wilkinson, 2010-03-15 Winner in the Education Academic category of the 2011 Next Generation Indie Book Awards Shortlisted for the 2011 NASEN Award The Special Needs Academic Book With a focus on best practice and the importance of early diagnosis this book provides a practical and scientifically based approach to the assessment and diagnosis of Asperger Syndrome and autism spectrum conditions This book offers a balance of conceptual practical and empirical information designed to bridge the research to practice gap in identifying assessing and treating school aged children with autism related conditions Assessment tools and intervention strategies will support school based professionals in identifying and assessing young people with high functioning autism spectrum conditions developing and implementing classroom based intervention programs initiating a dialogue between parents and teachers accessing community resources promoting special needs advocacy With illustrative case studies FAQs quick reference boxes and a glossary this accessible guide will appeal to teachers counsellors psychologists social work practitioners and students Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts James Flood, Shirley Brice Heath, Diane Lapp, 2011 The Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts a comprehensive overview of research on this topic extends conceptualizations of literacy to include all of the communicative arts reading writing speaking listening viewing and the visual arts of drama dance film art video and computer technology Instructional Models in Reading Steven A.

Stahl, David A. Hayes, 2013-04-03 This book started with a simple idea examine models of reading instruction that have emerged during the past 20 years These models span a wide range of instruction representing a continuum from highly structured task analytic instruction to child centered and holistic instruction Each model has its own epistemology or views on how reading and instruction are to be defined The different epistemologies indicate different principles of instruction which in turn indicate different practices in the classroom Each model is also supported by a different research base In this volume leading proponents of these different models discuss their ideas about reading instruction thereby encouraging readers to make their own comparisons and contrasts The chapter authors seem to adopt the editors eclectic approach to some greater or lesser extent incorporating aspects of other models into their instruction as they see other goals Thus models of reading instruction are complex Complicating matters further is the fact that teachers hold their own models of reading which may or may not be congruent with those discussed here Although academically developed models influence college preservice and in service instruction teachers own models of reading filter the information that they take from what they learn from these perspectives By carefully examining these variables this book makes a firm contribution toward disciplined inquiry into what it means to teach reading
