Final Year Student Project Report:

Academic Writing Eija Ventola, Anna Mauranen, 1996-03-15 Writing is crucial to the academic world. It is the main mode of communication among scientists and scholars and also a means for students for obtaining their degrees. The papers in this volume highlight the intercultural generic and textual complexities of academic writing. Comparisons are made between various traditions of academic writing in different cultures and contexts and the studies combine linguistic analyses with analyses of the social settings in which academic writing takes place and is acquired. The common denominator for the papers is writing in English and attention is given to native English writers and non native writers problems in different disciplines. The articles in the book introduce a variety of methodological approaches for analyses and search for better teaching methods and ways of improving the syllabi of writing curricula. The book as a whole illustrates how linguists strive for new research methods and practical applications in applied linguistics. Projects in the Computing Curriculum Michael Holcombe, Andrew F. Stratton, Sally A. Fincher, Gary Griffiths, 2012-12-06 Dr Peter Milton Director of Programme Review Quality Assurance Agency. I am grateful to the authors for giving me the opportunity to write this foreword mainly because it represents the first occasion that the Fund for the Development of Teaching and Learning (FDTL) has led directly to a publication such as this. In my former capacity as Director of Quality Assessment at the Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) I chaired the FDTL Committee during 1996-7 and am delighted to see the projects which were selected so painstakingly leading to successful outcomes. Assessment of the quality of higher education (HE) was introduced in 1993 and was intended to improve public information about what was on offer in British universities and colleges as well as to assist in the enhancement of educational opportunities for students. This was part of a larger agenda in which educational quality and the standards achieved by students have come under increasing scrutiny with a long term objective of linking funding allocations to the quality of the provision. It was in this context that the FDTL Initiative was launched in 1995 to support projects aimed at stimulating developments in teaching and learning and to encourage the dissemination of good practice across the HE sector. Good practice is identified through the process of quality assessment and bids for funding can only be made by those institutions which have demonstrated high quality provision. To date the programme includes 63 projects drawn from 23 subject areas. Academic Discourse Ken Hyland, 2009-01-01 Academic discourse is a rapidly growing area of study attracting researchers and students from a diverse range of fields. This is partly due to the growing awareness that knowledge is socially constructed through language and partly because of the emerging dominance of English as the language of scholarship worldwide. Large numbers of students and researchers must now gain fluency in the conventions of English language academic discourses to understand their disciplines, establish their careers and to successfully navigate their learning. This accessible and readable book shows the nature and importance of academic discourses in the modern world offering a clear description of the conventions of spoken and written academic discourse and the ways these construct both knowledge and disciplinary communities This unique genre based introduction to academic discourse will be essential reading for undergraduate and postgraduate students studying TESOL applied linguistics and English for Academic Purposes Resources in Education ,1998 Developments in Engineering Education Standards: Advanced Curriculum Innovations Rasul, Mohammad,2012-04-30 SUMMARY Managing Mathematical Projects - with Success! P.P.G. Dyke,2006-04-29 The first student centred guide on how to write projects and case studies in mathematics with particular attention given to working in groups something maths undergraduates have not traditionally done With half of all universities in the UK including major project work of significant importance this book will be essential reading for all students on the second or final year of a mathematics degree or on courses with a high mathematical content for example physics and engineering ECEL 2021 20th European Conference on e-Learning Prof. Dr.-Ing. essential and flexible resource for every higher education professional A Student's Guide to Studying Psychology Thomas M. Heffernan, 2000 Updated and extended this new edition of the very popular and practical guide to studying psychology remains an invaluable tool for students at both undergraduate and pre degree level Journalism Pedagogy in Transitional Countries Diana Garrisi, Xianwen Kuang, 2022-12-04 This book explains what it means to teach journalism in countries with limited media freedom in the post pandemic era It digs into the social and historical factors underpinning the development of journalism university degrees and courses in a selection of illustrative case studies taken from Africa Asia Europe and Latin America This work assesses both the limitations and creative opportunities arising from teaching journalism under constraints Topics include but are not limited to the application of Western theoretical frameworks in new transnational universities in China the historical and political roots of the gap between industry and academia in Slovenia ideological clashes and classism in higher education in the Arab region scholar activism in Turkey decolonizing journalism curricula in South Asia journalism students as research partners in the Philippines and the repression of the student press in Mexico Although this book focuses broadly on the Global South the theoretical and practical implications of its findings and related discussion will inform the challenges facing journalism training today as a whole Academic Writing in Engineering Amir Yazid Ali, Norlida Ahmad, Amirah Athirah Amir Yazid, A well formatted academic document filled with the required contents can captivate reading and help students in scoring high marks This book discusses ways to write good academic writings for engineering students The common sections such as abstracts introduction literature review methodology results discussion and conclusion are explained in detail This book also explains how to write the sections appropriately for academic reports such as laboratory reports capstone reports design reports final year project reports and research writing such as final year thesis master s thesis doctoral dissertation and research manuscript Publications United States. Division of Vocational Education, 1927 Rethinking EMI Lily I-Wen Su, Hintat Cheung, Jessica R. W. Wu, 2021-06-10 Due to the competitive edge it confers on students educational institutions and non English speaking nations in a globalized economy English as a medium of instruction EMI has been gaining popularity in tertiary education in non native English speaking NNEs countries Institute wide EMI implementation has often been imposed by top down decisions in combination with the optimistic view that the horse should always be placed before the cart However emerging evidence suggests that the delivery of such programs to NNEs students has led to new pedagogical challenges and learning problems that go beyond the scope of language learning and teaching and deserve immediate attention For example how would an instructor respond to situations in which students learning of content is compromised by their limited language proficiency This book draws on the current practice of EMI in diverse disciplines and university settings and examines how these new pedagogical and learning issues can be addressed The discussion also involves a reflection on the essence of EMI in relation to the use of the first language L1 as the medium of instruction in tertiary education In addition the book includes discussion about how to ensure and maintain the quality of EMI programs and assess the readiness of stakeholders for such programs which include administrators teachers and students The discussion is led by exemplars in Hong Kong and Taiwan where the majority of students are native Chinese speakers in the hope of developing critical perspectives and practical guidelines as references for EMI in other NNEs settings The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e> ISBN has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
