

Furthermore, the students will use mathematical reasoning as it relates to the learning objective and focus standard in the following ways. Students will use logic to determine that they can use the formulas to find the area and perimeter of a rectangle, to additionally find dimensions such as length and width of a rectangle. In-class discussions students will use mathematical reasoning to justify their use of strategies to problem solve. Mathematical reasoning will also be used by students to understand how the relationships between length, width, area, and perimeter work.)

[The lessons in this segment follow a sequence that aligns with a constructivist approach to learning. Students use their previous knowledge as a foundation to build and construct new knowledge and understanding.

Students begin the lessons by using mathematical reasoning and prior knowledge to construct meaning and to develop a conceptual understanding of a new topic. Next students explain their thinking and mathematical reasoning with peers to gain other perspectives and understand their thinking on a deeper level. Later the teacher performs a think-aloud to model procedures, and explain formulas, for students to build on what they already know and understand. Then the students take their prior knowledge, the newly-introduced procedures, vocabulary, and formulas, and work with the teacher to make connections to the new concepts while problem-solving together. During this time, the teacher asks probing and leading questions about reasoning, procedure application, and overall understanding of the "big idea" to assess students' understanding of the material before the students attempt problems to solve independently via an exit ticket. The last two steps of the lesson work as a formative assessment in that the teacher discovers misconceptions, and gaps in understanding to include in the subsequent lesson.

The learning tasks in Lesson 1 are designed to give students the foundation to be successful throughout the learning segment. Students do a practice problem and discuss their strategies and thinking with a partner. These activities serve as a preassessment that shows student's strengths, and weaknesses, in mathematical reasoning as it is related to dimensions of rectangles. During guided practice, the class will discuss vocabulary, symbols, and the formula for perimeter. These exposures will build a primary conceptual understanding for students. Last, students will complete an exit ticket.

Lesson 2 builds off Lesson 1 and student's primary understanding of the relationships of dimensions of rectangles, by asking students to apply the foundational skills that they learned in the 1st lesson with various problems that are more complex. To activate prior knowledge, students draw two different rectangles, each with a perimeter of 16 units. They will find the length and width of both rectangles, showing different lengths and widths for both shapes. Students share the dimensions of their rectangles. The teacher asks "How did you find length and width for each? Can you explain how the length and width can be different but have the same perimeter?" This helps students make a connection to what they learned in Lesson 1 and will increase their level of conceptual understanding. During guided practice, students are given more problems, and an opportunity to practice applying procedures, accurately, efficiently, and flexibly. This is designed for students to use the concepts introduced in Lesson 1 to make gains

Buchanan, 2018-01-01 Rich clinical preparation combined with progressive experiences in professional development school PDS settings are proposed to bring about systemic and impactful transformation of educator preparation and professional growth in order to improve and enhance P 12 student learning In this book diverse authors describe their efforts to forge PDS partnerships to develop and deliver high quality training and practical experiences for candidates and simultaneously provide professional development for experienced practitioners in ways that mirror recommendations found in authoritative reports and literature The authors collective wisdom is vividly captured in the multi voiced chapters that are collaborations between cooperating teachers school administrators county and district level administrators university supervisors and instructional faculty The contexts authors write about are recognizable and the accomplishments they experienced and challenges faced will resonate with institutions courageously undertaking change or renewal The book will be invaluable to school and university faculty and administrators as they transition to a partnering model of clinical preparation for teacher candidates it will help stakeholders decide if their schools and institutions are ready to commit to a partnership and highlight the benefits they stand to gain but realistically address challenges that may be faced by administrators and faculties as well as teacher candidates in the PDS enterprise

A Companion to Research in Teacher Education Michael A.

Peters, Bronwen Cowie, Ian Menter, 2017-05-31 This state of the art Companion assembles and assesses the extant research available on teacher education and provides clear guidelines on future directions It addresses an important need in a collection that will be of value for teachers teacher educators policymakers and politicians There has been little sustained long term or systematic research to provide empirical support for the broad aspects of teacher education policy largely because such research has been chronically underfunded and based on traditional practitioner knowledge Many of the changes to teacher education are contentious and yet are occurring in rapid succession These policies and movements have important consequences for education teacher quality and the future of the teaching profession At the same time the policies and initiatives that support these changes seem to be based more on ideology business interests and tradition than on research and empirical findings The nature quality and effectiveness of teacher preparation have increasingly become a central focus for education policy worldwide in a fiercely argued debate among governments think tanks world policy agencies education researchers and teacher organisations
