,2001 Resources in Vocational Education ,1979 Networking of Theories as a Research Practice in Mathematics

Education Angelika Bikner-Ahsbahr, Susanne Prediger, 2014-08-25 How can we deal with the diversity of theories in mathematics education This was the main question that led the authors of this book to found the Networking Theories Group Starting from the shared assumption that the existence of different theories is a resource for mathematics education research the authors have explored the possibilities of interactions between theories such as contrasting coordinating and locally integrating them The book explains and illustrates what it means to network theories it presents networking as a challenging but fruitful research practice and shows how the Group dealt with this challenge considering five theoretical approaches namely the approach of Action Production and Communication APC the Theory of Didactical Situations TDS the Anthropological Theory of the Didactic ATD the approach of Abstraction in Context AiC and the Theory of Interest Dense Situations IDS A synthetic presentation of each theory and their connections shows how the activity of networking generates questions at the theoretical methodological and practical levels and how the work on these questions leads to both theoretical and practical progress The core of the book consists of four new networking case studies which illustrate what exactly can be gained by this approach and what kind of difficulties might arise Reframing Science Teaching and Learning David Stroupe, 2017-02-03 Responding to recent reform efforts such as the Next Generation Science Standards which call for students to learn science practices this book proposes a conceptual reframing of the roles of teachers and students in formal and informal science learning settings Inviting the field to examine the state of science practice it provides concrete examples of how students supported by the actions of educators take on new roles shifting from passive recipients of information to active participants in conceptual social epistemic and material features of science work Each chapter provides an examination of how and why science practice evolves in learning communities in which students and teachers negotiate disciplinary work an analysis of how specific pedagogical and social actions taken by someone with authority a teacher or other educator provides opportunities for students to shape science practices a set of concrete recommendations for working with young students in formal and informal learning settings and a set of suggestions and questions to catalyze future research about and the evolving relationships between educators students and science practices in the field of science education Showing how and why the conceptual ideas presented are important and providing specific actionable suggestions for teachers and other educators for their daily work this book includes both elementary and secondary learning sites
