Practice builds on the successful format of the previous two editions both in content and structure. It explores many aspects of inclusive practice relevant to those who work with children in schools and other educational settings aiming to provide the most up to date theoretical knowledge and understanding in the field and illustrating the theory with examples of good practice in the areas explored. Many of the topics that have appeared in the previous editions including supporting children for whom English is a second language, children on the autistic spectrum and children with neurodiversity conditions also appear in this edition. The revised content of this third edition also covers recent and relevant changes in national policy and legislation particularly for example around changes in equality and disability, same sex parenting and transgender children and parenting policy and legislation. It explores the impact on aspects of inclusive practice legislation such as the Equality Act 2010, Marriage (Same Sex Couples) Act 2013 and the Children and Families Act 2014. It also explores in detail the revised 2014 SEN Code of Practice and the introduction of the pupil premium in 2011 which provides support for the education of children from low income families or who may be children who are fostered or in care. Throughout the book is informed by the solution focused social model of special educational needs and disability and reflects current national policy that sees inclusive practice as fundamental to ensure equality of educational opportunity is achieved for all children. Children's

Written from the personal experience of a parent and his three children, Independent Thinking on Loss is a little book about bereavement for schools. It details the ways in which schools can help their pupils come to terms with the death of a parent. A child loses a parent every twenty-two minutes in the UK. Childhood bereavement brings with it a whole series of challenges for the children involved; challenges they will deal with all their lives. The research shows teachers want to help but don't know what to do. This book is a start. Written by Independent Thinking founder Ian Gilbert together with his three children, Independent Thinking on Loss is a personal account of the way educational institutions tried and succeeded, tried and failed, and sometimes didn't try at all to help William, Olivia and Phoebe come to terms with the death of their mother. Several months after their mother's death, BBC's Newsround aired a brave and still controversial programme in which four children talked about their losses. This prompted Ian and his children to sit down and think about their own experiences and draw up a fifteen-strong list of dos and don'ts that could help steer schools towards a better understanding of what is needed from them at such a difficult time. The warmth of reception of this handout led the family to expand their advice and suggestions into what has now become Independent Thinking on Loss, the proceeds of which will go to Winston's

Wish one of the UK's leading children's bereavement charities Ian William, Olivia and Phoebe encourage educators to view death and bereavement as something that can be acknowledged and talked about in school and offer clear guidelines that will make a difference as to how a school can support a bereaved child in their midst. They also explore how conversations and actions, little ones, whole school ones, genuine ones, professional ones, personal ones in the school setting can make an awful scenario just that little bit easier for children to deal with. Suitable for anyone working with children and young people in an educational setting. Independent Thinking on Loss is an updated edition of The Little Book of Bereavement for Schools ISBN 9781845904647 and is one of a number of books in the Independent Thinking On series from the award-winning Independent Thinking Press. The Cumulative Book Index, 1998. A world list of books in the English language.
