The Religious Potential of the Child 6 to 12 Years Old Sofia Cavalletti, 2021-10-01 Here at last is the long awaited continuation of The Religious Potential of the Child from 3 to 6 years old The author Sofia Cavaletti founder of the Catechesis of the Good Shepherd describes an approach to the religious education of children according to the methods of Maria Montessori which has gained worldwide attention In this book she draws on her long experience with children from diverse cultures and environments to describe the vital religious needs of the older child 6 to 12 years old The Catechesis of the Good Shepherd for the older child builds on the foundation in scripture and liturgy offered to the younger child 3 to 6 years old The theme of the covenant between God and humankind first revealed to the people of Israel is expanded to include the dimension of time all of history from creation to the parousia For the older child awareness of participation in this covenant relationship leads spontaneously to a sense of moral responsibility and of engagement with the cosmos in all its manifestations This book will be a great help to educators and catechists who seek to understand the characteristics of the older child particularly the child's relationship with the mystery of God Contemplative Retreat Franz Jalics, 2003 In the depths of their hearts many people feel a deep longing for God to shape their lives They are in search of true prayer and personal union with God In this book the author offers guidance based on his personal life spiritual growth and extensive pastoral experience Step by step in ten units he leads the participant toward an immediate awareness of the reality of God and of his presence The book can be used as a practical guide for a closed retreat or for a retreat in everyday life Publisher's description back cover Journals of the Catechesis of the Good Shepherd 2014-2018 Compilation, 2020-01-27 This volume compiles the last five years of the Journal including art from children in the atria and reflections on catechetical development instructions to her nuns both in France and in England it is clear that Mother Mary of the Blessed Trinity absorbed the teaching and shared the radical ideals of St Teresa of Avila She also shared some of the characteristics of the great Carmelite reformer being a born leader and a woman of great courage determination and personal charm In bringing the spirit of St Teresa from Paris to London she was responsible for a remarkable expansion of the Carmelite Order in Britain although that work was carried out by her successor Mother Mary of Jesus while she herself retired into the background There she has tended to remain her memory still venerated in the house she founded but scarcely known outside of it Thanks to the patient research and steady labours of Sr Mary of St Philip she can now be presented to a wider public and her place in the history of Carmel and of the Catholic Church in this country can be better recognised

The Pilgrim of Our Lady of Martyrs ,1903      The Foundation of the Catholic Mission in Hong Kong, 1841-1894 Ha Keloan Louis, 2018-06-02 The Catholic Church is one of the few institutions that have survived since the inception of the British colony. She has contributed much during its development. As early as 1841 she set up a mission in Hong Kong. She and her various religious orders and congregations engaged in charitable works for the poor and the elderly in the early days of Hong Kong, greatly relieving the burden on the newly established colonial government. Today, apart from religious services, the Catholic Church still plays an important role in providing Hong Kong with diversified and professional services in medical care, education, and social welfare. Historical studies on the Catholic Church in Hong Kong of a comprehensive nature are rare in comparison with other religions. The reasons of this may include the complicated organizational structure of the Catholic Church and the multiple languages used in the archival documents such as Latin, French, Italian, and Portuguese. As a Catholic clergy, the author of this book, Fr. Louis Ha, is knowledgeable about the internal operation of the Church. He is also familiar with many European languages which help him master the original records and guarantee the credible result of his research. The contents of this book are based on the large number of documents provided by the Hong Kong Diocesan Archives Office, by archives in the Vatican, and in various religious orders in Europe. As an objective and impartial historian, Fr. Louis Ha honestly pointed out the power struggle in the Church, the confrontation with the government, the competition between Chinese and foreign clerics. In fact, a candid description of the Catholic Church in Hong Kong is shown in front of the readers. Definitely, it is a precious reference book for the study of the local society, religion, education, and charitable work in early Hong Kong.

Fostering Christian Faith in Schools and Christian Communities Through Igbo Traditional Values Michael Okoh, 2012 Religious education in Nigeria is in a state of transformation owing to the country's current pluralist nature among other factors. In the process, concepts of religion and education are revisited and reassessed in order to make them meaningful to mankind in his pluralist world. With this book, author Michael Okoh inaugurates a fundamental revision. He brings traditional African education and values alongside Christian ideals into dialogue with the Western progressive learning approaches, paving new ways for religious education activity in Nigeria, particularly in Igboland. Converting the Rosebud Harvey Markowitz, 2018-03-08 When Andrew Jackson's removal policy failed to solve the Indian problem, the federal government turned to religion for assistance. Nineteenth-century Catholic and Protestant reformers eagerly founded reservation missions and boarding schools, hoping to civilize and Christianize their supposedly savage charges. In telling the story of the Saint Francis Indian Mission on the Sicangu Lakota Rosebud Reservation, Converting the Rosebud illuminates the complexities of federal Indian reform, Catholic mission policy, and pre- and post-reservation Lakota culture. Author Harvey Markowitz frames the history of the Saint Francis Mission within a broader narrative of the battles waged on a national level between the Catholic Church and the Protestant organizations that often opposed its agenda for American Indian conversion and education He then juxtaposes these battles with the federal government's relentless attempts to conquer and colonize the Lakota tribes through warfare and diplomacy culminating in the transformation of the Sicangu Lakotas from a sovereign people into wards of the government designated as the Rosebud Sioux Markowitz follows the unpredictable twists in the relationships between the Jesuit priests and Franciscan sisters stationed at Saint Francis and their two missionary partners the United States Indian Office whose assimilationist goals the missionaries fully shared and the Sicangus themselves who selectively adopted and adapted those elements of Catholicism and Euro American culture that they found meaningful and useful Tracing the mission from its 1886 founding in present day South Dakota to the 1916 fire that reduced it to ashes Converting the Rosebud unveils the complex church state network that guided conversion efforts on the Rosebud Reservation Markowitz also reveals the extent to which the Sicangu responded to those efforts and in doing so created a distinct understanding of Catholicism centered on traditional Lakota concepts of sacred power

Ladies of the Leisure Class Bonnie G. Smith, 2020-03-31 In a social and cultural study of nineteenth century bourgeois women in northern France Bonnie Smith shows how the advent of industrialization removed women from the productive activity of the middle class and confined them to a largely reproductive experience Out of this she suggests they created their own world centered on domesticity family and religion To understand these women the author argues it is necessary to examine their world on its own terms as a coherent whole Professor Smith draws on demographic psychoanalytic anthropological linguistic as well as historical insights and uses a variety of evidence that includes personal interviews photographs letters genealogical records and traditional archival sources Part One outlines the transition from mercantile to industrial manufacturing that terminated the relationship between home and business and that separated the sexes according to their respective functions Part Two concentrates on the lives of the women following their acceptance of an exclusively reproductive function and shows how the interdependence and fusion of household chores religious values and social conscience fostered a unified cultural system Part Three then explores the propagation of this domesticity by the convent as the primary educational system and by the sentimental novel as the vehicle most suited for an ideological expression of domestic life
