Industrial-arts Magazine , 1920 Industrial Arts & Vocational Education , 1920 Industrial Arts and Vocational Education , 1920 Prehistoric Textiles E. J.W. Barber, 2021-11-09 This pioneering work revises our notions of the origins and early development of textiles in Europe and the Near East Using innovative linguistic techniques along with methods from palaeobiology and other fields it shows that spinning and pattern weaving began far earlier than has been supposed Prehistoric Textiles made an unsurpassed leap in the social and cultural understanding of textiles in humankind's early history Cloth making was an industry that consumed more time and effort and was more culturally significant to prehistoric cultures than anyone assumed before the book's publication The textile industry is in fact older than pottery and perhaps even older than agriculture and stockbreeding It probably consumed far more hours of labor per year in temperate climates than did pottery and food production put together And this work was done primarily by women Up until the Industrial Revolution and into this century in many peasant societies women spent every available moment spinning weaving and sewing The author Elizabeth Wayland Barber demonstrates command of an almost unbelievably disparate array of disciplines from historical linguistics to archaeology and paleobiology from art history to the practical art of weaving Her passionate interest in the subject matter leaps out on every page Barber a professor of linguistics and archaeology developed expert sewing and weaving skills as a small girl under her mother's tutelage One could say she had been born and raised to write this book Because modern textiles are almost entirely made by machines we have difficulty appreciating how time consuming and important the premodern textile industry was This book opens our eyes to this crucial area of prehistoric human culture

Grade Teacher , 1929 The Bayeux Tapestry Gale R. Owen-Crocker, 2023-05-31 This collection of fifteen papers ranges from the author's initial interest in the Tapestry as a source of information on early medieval dress through to her startling recognition of the embroidery's sophisticated narrative structure Developing the work of previous authors who had identified graphic models for some of the images she argues that not just the images themselves but the contexts from which they were drawn should be taken in to account in reading the messages of the Tapestry In further investigating the minds and hands behind this the largest non architectural artefact surviving from the Middle Ages she ranges over the seams the embroidery stitches the language and artistry of the inscription the potential significance of borders and the gestures of the figures in the main register always scrutinising detail informatively She identifies an over riding conception and house style in the Tapestry but also sees different hands at work in both needlecraft and graphics Most intriguingly she recognises an sub contractor with a Roman source and a clownish wit The author is Professor of Anglo Saxon Culture at The University of Manchester UK a specialist in Old English poetry Anglo Saxon material culture and medieval dress and textiles The Century Dictionary and Cyclopedia: The Century dictionary, ed. by W.D.
