Wilson,2013-09-13 When marketing managers and financial managers join forces within any business the result can often be poor communication on financial criteria and goals The risk of this situation occurring is inevitably present when those with different professional backgrounds and roles are working in accordance with their own norms In his seminal 1956 paper on general systems theory the economist Kenneth Boulding referred to the phenomenon of specialised ears and generalised deafness which can be seen to exist when marketing managers are financially illiterate or when financial managers lack the necessary insights to design implement and operate accounting systems which are useful to marketing managers in carrying out their roles It is increasingly difficult to attach credence to the idea of marketing managers who lack financial skills or financial managers who fail to relate to the context in which marketing managers operate Understanding the marketing accounting interface is therefore important in generating emergent properties from the interaction of marketers and accountants whereby the whole is greater than the sum of the parts The chapters in this volume seek to address this challenge This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Marketing Management Costing of Health Care Services in Developing Countries Steffen Fleßa,2009 The process of health care reforms must be based on demographic epidemiological and economic evidence if it is to achieve the fundamental target of affordable sustainable and efficient health care services for the entire population Consequently costing of health care services has become a frequently used element of health care reforms This book presents the essentials of costing in a health economic framework and gives examples from successful costing studies done by the author in Tanzania Vietnam and Burkina Faso Based on these examples it demonstrates the importance of costing information for the planning and decision making process in the field of budgeting resource allocation setting an insurance premium and strategic planning The main message of this book is that costing of health care services is a valuable instrument in the fight for better health for all Financial & Managerial Accounting. 6th Ed. ; Accounting. 19th Ed Carl S.
