Congress at Work

Lesson 1 How a Bill Becomes a Law

Review Questions

Directions: Read the lesson and complete the outline below. Refer to your text to fill in the blanks.

I. Types of Bills and Resolutions

- A. Bills dealing with individual people or places are called private bills, while bills involving general matters that apply to the entire nation are called public bills.
- B. Congress also passes resolutions to make policy on unusual or temporary matters.
- C. A joint resolution resolution is passed in the same form by both houses of Congress, a simple resolution resolution is passed by one house alone and affects matters only in that house, and senate resolutions cover matters requiring the action of the House and Senate but do not need a law.
- D. Lawmakers attach riders to bills that are likely to pass.

II. Introducing a Bill

- A. stage A bill is introduced in the House or Senate by a member of Congress. The bill is then assigned to a committee. The committee holds hearings and makes recommendations. The bill is then voted on by the full House or Senate.
- B. stage If the bill is passed by both the House and Senate, it goes to the President. If the House and Senate pass different versions of the bill, a conference committee is formed to reconcile the differences. The conference committee makes recommendations to both the House and Senate, which then vote on the final version of the bill.
- C. stage If the President signs the bill, it becomes law. If the President vetoes the bill, Congress can override the veto with a two-thirds vote in both the House and Senate. If the President does not sign the bill and Congress adjourns, the bill dies.
