1. The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This involves conducting market research to understand the target audience and their requirements. Once a need is identified, the next step is to develop a concept that addresses the need. This is followed by a detailed design phase, where the product's features and specifications are defined. The final step is to create a prototype, which allows the team to test the product and make necessary adjustments before full-scale production.
