Evaluation of Translation Technology Walter Daelemans, Véronique Hoste, 2010 This collection of scholarly articles asks the question How useful is translation technology Pointing to the need for a widely used and reliable way to test the efficiency of language translation programs the presenters show that commercial tools such as translation memories and translation workbenches are popular and their developers find them useful in terms of productivity consistency or quality However these claims are rarely proven using objective comparative studies and this group describes several new statistical approaches to more rigorous evaluation methods

Describing Verb Valency Mário Alberto Perini,2015-09-15 The elaboration of linguistic theories depends on the existence of adequate descriptions of particular languages otherwise theories will be poorly grounded on empirical data This book starts from theoretical points of wide acceptance among linguists and goes on to present a descriptive metalanguage able to express the facts of verb valency which constitute one of the core areas in linguistic description Most of the data come from an extensive survey under way of the valency of Portuguese verbs but the present work s relevance goes well beyond that and incorporates a proposal applicable to other European languages illustrated by the wealth of English examples included in the exposition Among the topics discussed are the syntactic component of constructions following here a proposal recently published in Culicover and Jackendoff s Simpler Syntax delimitation and definition of semantic roles the role of linking rules and their relation to prototypes and the connection between linguistic expressions and cognitive units such as frames and schemata The result is a notational system flexible and robust enough to describe all aspects of verb valency

Hardwood Reforestation and Restoration Daniel Gagnon,Benoit Truax,2019-04-25 Hardwood dominated temperate forests mostly in Eastern North America Europe North East Asia provide valuable renewable timber and numerous ecosystem services Many of these forests have been subjected to harvesting or conversion to agriculture sometimes over centuries that have greatly reduced their former extent and diversity Natural regeneration following harvesting or during post agricultural succession has often failed to restore these forests adequately Past harvesting practices and the valuable timber of some species have led to a reduction in their abundance The loss of apex predators has caused herbivore populations to increase and exert intense browsing pressure on hardwood regeneration often preventing it. Particularly important are fruit nut and acorn bearing species because of their vital role in forest food webs and biodiversity. Restoring hardwood species to natural forests in which they were formerly more abundant will require a number of forest management actions e.g. resistant hybrids, deer exclosures, protectors, enrichment planting, underplanting etc. Similarly, reforesting areas that were once natural forests will also require new silvicultural knowledge. Global warming trends will intensify the need for interventions to maintain the diversity and function of temperate hardwood forests as well as for increase hardwood reforestation.

A Compendium of Neuropsychological Tests Elisabeth M. S. Sherman, Jing Ee Tan, Marianne Hrabok, 2023-05-09. A Compendium of Neuropsychological Tests Fourth Edition is one of the most well established reference texts in neuropsychology. This newly revised, updated and expanded fourth edition provides a comprehensive overview of essential aspects of neuropsychological practice along with 100 test reviews of well known neuropsychological tests for adults. The aim of the Compendium is to provide a comprehensive yet practical overview of the state of the field while also summarizing the evidence on the theoretical background, norms, reliability and validity of commonly used neuropsychological tests. Based on extensive review of the clinical and research literature in neuropsychology, neurology and related disciplines, its comprehensive critical reviews of common neuropsychological tests and standardized scales include tests for premorbid estimation, dementia screening, IQ, attention, executive functioning, memory, language, visuospatial skills, sensory function, motor skills, performance validity and symptom validity. Tables within each test review summarize important features of each test, highlight aspects of each normative dataset and provide an overview of psychometric properties. This essential reference text also covers basic and advanced aspects of neuropsychological assessment with chapters on psychometric concepts and principles, reliability in neuropsychology, theoretical models of test validity and an overview of critical concepts pertaining to performance and symptom validity testing and malingering. Of interest to neuropsychologists, clinical psychologists, educational psychologists, neurologists and psychiatrists as well as trainees in these areas, this volume will aid practitioners in gaining a deeper understanding of fundamental assessment concepts in neuropsychology while also serving as an essential guidebook for selecting the right test for specific clinical situations and for helping clinicians make empirically supported test interpretations.
