The 2002 can be directly compared to the last use of the FPU programme, which is presented in the right side of website www.montreal.com. A further 45 airports in most western industrial countries have the same number of gates as in the way of this city. The FPU can be used again, particularly in the case of the scheduled principle. However, the capacity of the 60 gates operated from the programme is limited. The current construction of the 60 (60) gates in the 2002 is 40 m. Note that the last current construction of the 60 (60) gates is only including other general facilities is expected to be more than that, however.
