Teachers' classroom practices in addressing learners' errors in algebraic word problems Stephen Mubanga, 2021-10-08 Master's Thesis from the year 2020 in the subject Pedagogy School Pedagogics University of Zambia Postgraduate studies course Master of Mathematics Education language English abstract The study explored teachers' classroom practices in addressing learners' errors regarding how they engaged grade eight learners in reading how they probed learners' understanding and what they did to enhance learners' process skills and encoding abilities in algebraic word problems. Five teachers and twenty-five learners in five focus groups (discussions of five members each) at three secondary schools in Isoka district of Muchinga province, Zambia, were purposively sampled to participate in the study. The study used a qualitative approach which followed a descriptive case study design. Data collection was done using lesson observations, semi-structured interviews, document analysis, and focus group discussions. To capture observations and interviews in totality, video and audio recordings were used respectively. Thematic analysis was used to analyse data. The five performance strategies of solving word problems by Newman, namely reading ability, comprehension ability, transformation ability, process skills, and encoding ability, guided the analysis of data. The study was guided by the following research questions: How do teachers engage learners in reading algebraic word problems? How do teachers probe learners' understanding of algebraic word problems? What do teachers do to enhance learners' process skills and encoding abilities in algebraic word problems? PISA Making Education Count for Development Data Collection and Availability in Six PISA for Development Countries UNESCO Institute for Statistics, 2016-09-28 This report provides a systematic review of the collection, availability, and quality of metadata, as well as data regarding education at the system level for countries participating in the PISA for Development PISA D project: Cambodia, Ecuador, Guatemala, Paraguay, Senegal, and Zambia. Encyclopedia of Food Allergy, 2024-06-21 Encyclopedia of Food Allergy organized in 10 sections with 200 chapters and written by world-renowned clinician-scientist authors is the most comprehensive resource for food allergy ever compiled. With online and physical presence, intuitive and easily accessible organization of information, the reader can quickly access overview and general topics as well as detailed information to inform solutions to clinical or research questions. Research topics provide the necessary background for the novice as well as the details required for those in the field. Clinical topics provide comprehensive and practical information with generous use of tables, figures, and key points (clinical pearls) to inform clinical decision making and promote evidence-based management decisions. Food allergy may affect up to 10% of the population in developed countries and appears to be increasing in prevalence worldwide, with many food allergies proving life-long, severe, and potentially fatal. The last decade has witnessed a sea change response to the impact of food allergy through basic science research on the immunology, food science research on the triggers, clinical approaches to daily management, treatment and prevention, and an increasing understanding of the psychosocial and societal implications and how to address them. With the expanding breadth and depth of the field there is no existing comprehensive resource available for those professionals interested in learning about or contributing to food allergy research and clinical care This is a complete resource covering broad and detailed aspects of food allergy and adverse food reactions for clinicians researchers regulators food industry students and other stakeholders who need and will benefit from a rich resource with in depth and practical information Presents in depth comprehensive coverage from an outstanding international author base of domain experts Ideal for new researchers and clinicians who will have a single resource that includes general topics to get them started Includes access to detailed information in their areas of work AND for many related topics that will help improve their research or clinical care Index to Scientific &
