

GRADE 11

NOTES

SUBJECT: POLITICAL SCIENCE (028)
SESSION 2020-21

✓✓ Legislature

✓ Q.1 Why do we need a Parliament?

Ans: 1. The Parliament is the centre of all democratic process.

2. It helps in holding representatives accountable.

3. It is recognised as one of the most democratic and open forums of debate.

4. On account of its composition, it is the most representative of all organs of government.

5. It is above all, vested with the power to choose and dismiss the government.

✓ Q.2 Mention some instances which prove the importance of the Parliament in India.

Ans: 1. On March 11th 2002, the Finance Minister had to roll back the increases in fertilizer prices under intense opposition pressure.

2. On 4th June 1998, the entire opposition staged a walkout of the Lok Sabha. The finance minister in his budget proposal had proposed a hike of 50 paisa per kilogram of urea to reduce subsidy on it. This forced the finance minister Mr. Yashwant Sinha to roll back the hike in urea prices.

3. Congress Members voiced protest against atrocities on Harijans in Andhra Pradesh on 3rd March, 1985.

4. Site one more recent example.

✓ Q.3 Why do we need two houses of Parliament?

Ans: 1. The Parliament in India has two houses. This is called a bicameral legislature.

2. The two Houses of the Indian Parliament are the Rajya Sabha and the Lok Sabha.

3. Countries with large size and much diversity usually prefer to have two houses of the national legislature to give representation to all sections in the society and to give representation to all geographical regions or parts of the country.

4. A bicameral legislature makes it possible to have every decision reconsidered. Every decision taken by one house goes to the other house for its decision. This means that every bill and policy would be discussed twice. This ensures a double check on every matter.

5. Even if one house takes a decision in haste, that decision will come for discussion in the other house and reconsideration will be possible.

Virginia Gray Book Award APSA Section 22 State Politics and Policy Legislatures are ubiquitous in the American political experience First created in Virginia in 1619 they have existed continuously ever since Indeed they were established in even the most unlikely of places notably in sparsely populated frontier settlements and functioned as the focal point of every governing system devised Despite the ubiquity of state legislatures we know remarkably little about how Americans have viewed them as organizations in terms of their structures rules and procedures But with the rise of modern public opinion surveys in the twentieth century we now have extensive data on how Americans have gauged legislative performance throughout the many years That said the responses to the questions pollsters typically pose reflect partisanship policy and personality Generally respondents respond favorably to legislatures controlled by their own political party and those in power during good economic times Incumbent lawmakers get ratings boosts from having personalities home styles that mesh with those of their constituents These relationships are important indicators of people s thoughts regarding the current performance of their legislatures and legislators but they tell us nothing about attitudes toward the institution and its organizational characteristics This study offers a unique perspective on what American voters have historically thought about legislatures as organizations and legislators as representatives Rather than focusing on responses to surveys that ask respondents how they rate the current performance of lawmakers and legislatures this study leverages the most significant difference between national and state politics the existence of ballot propositions in the latter At the national level Americans have never had any say over Congress s structure rules or procedures In contrast at the state level they have had ample opportunities over the course of more than two centuries to shape their state legislatures The data examined here look at how people have voted on more than 1 500 state ballot propositions targeting a wide array of legislative organizational and parliamentary features By linking the votes on these measures with the public debates preceding them this study documents not only how American viewed various aspects of their legislatures but also whether their opinions held constant or shifted over time The findings reported paint a more nuanced picture of Americans attitudes toward legislatures than the prevailing one derived from survey research When presented with legislative reform measures on which concrete choices were offered and decisions on them had to be made the analyses presented here reveal that counter to the conventional wisdom that people loved their representatives but hated the legislature voters usually took charitable positions toward the institution while harboring skeptical attitudes about lawmakers motives and behaviors
