National Marine Pollution Program Plan, Federal Plan for Ocean Pollution Research, Development & Monitoring United States. National Marine Pollution Program Office, 1988 International Handbook of Earthquake Engineering Mario Paz, 2012-12-06 The subject of earthquake engineering has been the focus of my teaching and research for many years Thus when Mario Paz the editor of this handbook asked me to write a Foreword I was interested and honored by his request Worldwide people are beginning to understand the severity of the danger to present and future generations caused by the destruction of the environment Earthquakes pose a similar threat thus the proper use of methods for earthquake resistant design and construction is vitally important for countries that are at high risk of being subjected to strong motion earthquakes Most seismic activity is the result of tectonic earthquakes Tectonic earthquakes are very special events in that although they occur frequently their probability of becoming natural hazards for a specific urban area is very small When a severe earthquake does occur near an urban area however its consequences are very large in terms of structural destruction and human suffering Earthquake Information Bulletin ,1982 Political Geography Kevin R. Cox, 2005 In line with the tremendous growth in the study of political geography since the 1970s this impressive collection charts the historical growth of the discipline as well as the major themes of post 1970s developments X-Ray Microscopy G. Schmahl, D. Rudolph, 2013-04-17 X ray microscopy fills a gap between optical and electron microscopy Using soft x rays a resolution higher than with visible light can be obtained In comparison to electron microscopy thick wet unstained specimens can be examined This is especially advantageous for biological applications The intense synchrotron radiation of electron storage rings and the development of optical elements for soft x rays render x ray microscopy feasible for basic research Wider applications will be possible in the future with the development of laboratory x ray sources and microscopes In 1979 a conference on x ray microscopy was organized by the New York Academy of Sciences and in 1981 a symposium on high resolution soft x ray optics was held at Brookhaven The present volume contains the contributions to the symposium X Ray Microscopy organized by the Akademie der Wissenschaften in Göttingen in September 1983 In their capacity as conference chairmen the editors would like to thank the Akademie der Wissenschaften especially Prof H G Wagner Secretary of the Academy and Mr J Pfahler for organizing the symposium We are indebted to the Stiftung Volkswagenwerk for financial support The symposium was held at the Max Planck Institut für Stromungsforschung We are grateful for their hospitality and assistance during the symposium Thanks are due to all authors and to the Springer Verlag for their combined efforts We thank Dipl Phys P Guttman Dr B Niemann and Mrs A Marienhagen for their assistance during the final preparation of the manuscripts The Software Encyclopedia ,1988 Software for Schools ,1987 Capital Improvements Program Denver (Colo.). Surface & Coatings Technology J. P. G. Farr, B. D. Sartwell, 2016-06-03 Surface Coatings Technology represents the start of a new era for the journal not only with the change in title to Surface and Coatings Technology but also with the significant change in the journal's scope which is intended to place it in the forefront of the coatings and surface modification field. This present volume contains 100 contributions. It is intended to become the principal forum for the interchange of information on the science, technology and application of coatings and modified surfaces as they relate to modification of the mechanical, chemical or optical properties of materials. The aim of the journal is to publish research papers and invited review articles on various subjects. A new feature will be the addition of a short section at the beginning of each issue in which each author states which technical problems are being addressed in his article. These will be catalogued at the end of each year in order that a scientist or engineer who has a particular problem related to coatings can determine whether there were any papers that addressed the problem. It is hoped that Surface and Coatings Technology will have a significant impact in one of the most exciting areas of materials research being investigated today.

Stream Channel Stability E. H. Grissinger, 1981. This process-oriented study was organized to investigate three complementary aspects of channel stability including a) the nature of channel failure processes, b) the influences of valley fill depositional units on these processes, and c) the properties and distributions of the valley fill units. The study included the near-surface geologic investigation of the late Quaternary valley fill deposits and channel morphometric investigations. The properties and distributions of the valley fill units directly and indirectly influence the nature of channel failure processes. Although gravity-induced failure is the most frequent form of present-day bank instability, the type of gravity failure is dependent upon the properties of the valley fill units. Both depositional and weathering properties influence the type of failure. The valley fill units indirectly influence bank stability through their control of groundwater movement and the development of unusually large seepage forces at point locations along the channels. Bed instability has primarily resulted from upstream migration of knickpoints and the rate of knickpoint migration has been affected by valley fill unit controls. Present drainage systems in the study area are immature; channel morphometry has not adjusted at this time to the new flow regime resultant from cultural and natural changes.
