Jab 2015 2016 Cut Off:

Media Analysis and Public Health Lesley Henderson, Shona Hilton, Judith Green, 2020-06-29 This volume showcases new approaches to studying public health in traditional and emerging media suggesting that we need more analyses that focus on the production of media and on power dynamics as well as studies of audience reception of media messages The collection asks a variety of questions about the role of media in analysing public health Contributors ask who is influential in producing the stories we see in the press and on social media Who benefits and who is damaged by media debates on health topics They investigate the role of big business in seeking to shape public opinion and consumption in print and online media how issues such as hand washing come to be framed over time by newspapers how conflicts over immunisations get covered how health promotion messages do their work and the positive role of online media in helping foster drug safety Together they reach the conclusion that since mass media is a crucial element of civic society more in depth understanding of how it works and what impacts it has on public health is essential Given the crucial role of the media in shaping health debates pushing certain issues up the policy agenda defining problems for audiences and presenting potential solutions this book's analysis will be of interest to all those studying how the media shape policy as well as public health researchers with an interest in mass communication This book was originally published as a special issue of Critical Public Health Advancing Africa's Sustainable Development Alain L. Fymat, 2018-11-14 While many African countries lag behind the rest of the industrialised world in scientific and medical research and development the situation is progressively improving This is why the Society for the Advancement of Science in Africa was established to contribute to economic advancement and sustainability through science research education and innovation This book provides a selection of papers from the Advancement of Science in Africa's fourth annual conference The conference was held under the overarching theme of science technology and innovation in Africa with several important sub themes including but not limited to improving health research and disease surveillance education collaborating in research responding to epidemic diseases with high mortality in Africa and promoting women's interest in science careers The collection illustrates how although the chapter contributors come from various countries and universities representing their own academic research they all share a common interest in advancing science technology and innovation in Africa The Meat Crisis Joyce D'Silva, John Webster, 2017-08-23 Meat and dairy production and consumption are in crisis Globally 70 billion farm animals are used for food production every year It is well accepted that livestock production is a major contributor to greenhouse gas emissions The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO predicts a rough doubling of meat and milk consumption in the first half of the 21st century with particularly rapid growth occurring in the developing economies of Asia What will this mean for the health and wellbeing of those animals of the people who consume ever larger quantities of animal products and for the health of the planet itself The new edition of this powerful and challenging book explores the impacts of the global growth in the production and consumption of meat and dairy including cultural and health factors and the implications of the likely intensification of farming for both small scale producers and for animals Several chapters explore the related environmental issues from resource use of water cereals and soya to the impact of livestock production on global warming and issues concerning biodiversity land use and the impacts of different farming systems on the environment A final group of chapters addresses ethical and policy implications for the future of food and livestock production and consumption Since the first edition published in 2010 all chapters have been updated three original chapters re written and six new chapters added with additional coverage of dietary effects of milk and meat antibiotics in animal production and the economic political and ethical dimensions of meat consumption The overall message is clearly that we must eat less meat to help secure a more sustainable and equitable world Planet of Microbes

Ted Anton, 2017-10-31 We live in a time of unprecedented scientific knowledge about the origins of life on Earth But if we want to grasp the big picture we have to start small very small That s because the real heroes of the story of life on Earth are microbes the tiny living organisms we cannot see with the naked eye Microbes were Earth s first lifeforms early anaerobic inhabitants that created the air we breathe Today they live invisible and seemingly invincible in every corner of the planet from Yellowstone s scalding hot springs to Antarctic mountaintops to inside our very bodies more than a hundred trillion of them Don t be alarmed though many microbes are allies in achieving our to say nothing of our planet s health In Planet of Microbes Ted Anton takes readers through the most recent discoveries about microbes revealing their unexpected potential to reshape the future of the planet For years we knew little about these invisible invaders considering them as little more than our enemies in our fight against infectious disease But the more we learn about microbes the more it s become clear that our very lives depend on them They may also hold the answers to some of science s most pressing problems including how to combat a warming planet clean up the environment and help the body fight off a wide variety of diseases Anton has spent years interviewing and working with the determined scientists who hope to harness the work of microbes and he breaks down the science while also sharing incredible behind the scenes stories of the research taking place everywhere from microbreweries to Mars The world s tiniest organisms were here more than three billion years before us We live in their world and Planet of Microbes at last gives these unsung heroes the recognition they deserve Tunnels and

The Kenyan Cut Flower Industry and Global Market Dynamics Andreas Gemählich, 2022

Investigates the production trade and consumption of the bouquets sold in European supermarkets and the consequences of this for the globalised economy From a macro perspective it appears that the cut flower industry has changed into a buyer driven value chain with corporate retailers as the new lead firms Yet as this book shows this is insufficient to explain how new trade relations come into being and the consequences of this not only for global economics but for the producers climate change and rural livelihoods As the retailers and wholesalers of the flower industry in the West linked directly to producers in the Global South trade relations changed fundamentally and this critical new book explores the complexities of the power asymmetries and the way in which corporate retailers have shaped the market to promote their own interests as well as the role non economic actors played This book examines in detail the situation at Lake Naivasha Kenya which has played a central part within this new market order Since the 1970s the area has developed into one of the most important production areas for the ready made bouquets that sell so cheaply in European supermarkets For the flower growers themselves however coping with the new conditions of supply and demand the new market order has brought financial precariousness Farms needed to be flexible in the production and marketing of their flowers Yet while they were able to expand their production and achieve more stable employment conditions this has not resulted in significantly higher remuneration The rapidly changing economic situation has also had a profound impact not only on local stakeholders but on the environment where there is intensified competition for resources and new production technologies Published in association with the Collaborative Research Centre FUTURE RURAL AFRICA funded by the German Research Council DFG
