Jacobs Publisher Open Access:

Open Access Peter Suber, 2012-07-20 A concise introduction to the basics of open access describing what it is and isn't and showing that it is easy, fast, inexpensive, legal, and beneficial. The Internet lets us share perfect copies of our work with a worldwide audience at virtually no cost. We take advantage of this revolutionary opportunity when we make our work open access: digital, online, free of charge, and free of most copyright and licensing restrictions. Open access is made possible by the Internet and copyright holder consent, and many authors, musicians, filmmakers, and other creators who depend on royalties are understandably unwilling to give their consent. But for 350 years, scholars have written peer-reviewed journal articles for impact, not for money, and are free to consent to open access without losing revenue. In this concise introduction, Peter Suber tells us what open access is and isn't, how it benefits authors and readers of research, how we pay for it, how it avoids copyright problems, how it has moved from the periphery to the mainstream, and what its future may hold. Distilling a decade of Suber's influential writing and thinking about open access, this is the indispensable book on the subject for researchers, librarians, administrators, funders, publishers, and policy makers. Digital Libraries: Universal and Ubiquitous Access to Information George Buchanan, Masood Masoodian, Sally Jo Cunningham, 2008-11-13 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 11th International Conference on Asian Digital Libraries (ICADL 2008) held in Bali, Indonesia, in December 2008. The 30 revised full papers, 20 revised short papers, and extended abstracts of 13 poster papers were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions. The paper topics cover the spectrum of digital libraries, including multimedia, digital libraries, usability, and evaluation, information retrieval, ontologies, social tagging, metadata, issues, multi- and cross-language retrieval, digital preservation, and scholarly publishing and communities. Global Academic Publishing Mary Jane Curry, Theresa Lillis, 2017-11-22 This book reports on the state of academic journal publishing in a range of geolinguistic contexts, including locations where pressures to publish in English have developed more recently than in other parts of the world, e.g., Kazakhstan, Colombia, in addition to contexts that have not been previously explored or well documented. The three sections push the boundaries of existing research on global publishing, which has mainly focused on how scholars respond to pressures to publish in English, by highlighting research on evaluation policies, journals' responses in non-Anglophone contexts, to pressures for English-medium publishing, and pedagogies for supporting scholars in their publishing efforts.

Educating the Global Workforce for Public Health Sanjay P. Zodpey, Roger A. Harrison, Michal Grivna, John R. Finnegan, Connie J. Evashwick, 2018-03-16 Good quality management of the health system demands a critical mass of health professionals with sound technical knowledge. The education that produces a workforce of appropriate size and skills is often a challenge in the delivery of quality health services. Incidentally, health professionals' education has not kept pace with the new emerging challenges. Recent globalization of health has further led to international migration of health professionals, thereby leading to cross border recognition of health workers with an appropriate skill mix, knowledge and competence. The Lancet Commission Report of 2010 highlighted the need to develop a common strategy at a global level for postgraduate medical, nursing and public health education that reaches beyond the confines of national borders and the silos of individual professions. This vision would require a series of instructional and institutional reforms which should be guided by two proposed outcomes: transformative learning and interdependence in education. The purpose of this Research Topic is to increase the shared understanding of the current status of the education of the health workforce around the globe, particularly those working in the public health sector. With this foundation, further research and evaluation studies can then be done with a perspective that addresses global workforce issues impacting access, prevention and care.

Biomass Production and Uses Eduardo Jacob-Lopes, Leila Queiroz Zepka, 2015-10-14 Biomass presents an authoritative and comprehensive overview of the possibilities for production and use of biomasses of agricultural and industrial importance. Issues related to environment, food, chemicals and energy present serious challenges to the success and stability of nations. The challenge to provide commodities to a rapidly increasing global population has made it imperative to find new technological routes to increase production of consumables while also considering the biosphere's ability to regenerate resources. Plant and microbial biomasses are bioresources that may provide solutions to these critical challenges. Divided into five discreet parts, the book covers topics on production of unconventional biomasses and improving of conventional cultures, summarizing a range of useful products derived by biomass. This book provides an insight into future developments in each field and extensive bibliography. It will be an essential resource for researchers and academic and industry professionals in the life sciences.

Visual Culture and the Forensic David Houston Jones, 2022-03-10 David Houston Jones builds a bridge between practices conventionally understood as forensic, such as crime scene investigation, and the broader field of activity which the forensic now designates, for example in performance and installation art, as well as photography Contemporary work in these areas responds both to forensic evidence including crime scene photography and to some of the assumptions underpinning its consumption It asks how we look and in whose name foregrounding and scrutinising the enduring presence of voyeurism in visual media and instituting new forms of ethical engagement Such work responds to the object oriented culture associated with the forensic and offers a reassessment of the relationship of human voice and material evidence It displays an enduring debt to the discursive model of testimony which has so far been insufficiently recognised and which forms the basis for a new ethical understanding of the forensic Jones s analysis brings this methodology to bear upon a strand of contemporary visual activity that has the power to significantly redefine our understandings of the production analysis and deployment of evidence Artists examined include Forensic Architecture Simon Norfolk Melanie Pullen Angela Strassheim John Gerrard Julian Charri re Trevor Paglen Laura Poitras and Sophie Ristelhueber The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history visual culture literary studies modern languages photography and critical theory
