Parliament. House of Commons. Public Accounts Committee,Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Committee of Public Accounts,2009 Although the Department for Innovation Universities and Skills and its predecessor the Department for Education and Skills spent around 5 billion on basic skills courses between 2001 and 2007 9 billion by 2011 large numbers of the adult working population of England remain functionally illiterate and innumerate In 2003 an estimated 75 per cent of the adult population of working age had numeracy skills below the level of a good pass at GCSE and 56 per cent had literacy skills below this level In July 2007 the Government announced a new objective to help 95 per cent of the adult population of working age achieve functional literacy and numeracy the level of skill generally needed to get by in life by 2020 Achieving this ambition would however only raise England to the standards currently achieved by the top 25 per cent of OECD member countries There are now separate targets for literacy and numeracy which focus on achieving the functional level of skill The new targets especially for numeracy will be challenging to meet and to date far less progress has been made tackling poor numeracy skills compared with literacy skills This is not helped by the low number of numeracy teachers available Many hard to reach people with poor literacy and numeracy skills come into contact with other government services such as Jobcentre Plus the Prison Service and the Probation Service More of these people are being encouraged to take up courses to improve their literacy and numeracy skills but the percentage who participate is still relatively small The Department s biggest challenges are reaching people in the workplace who lack skills and getting employers to recognise the benefits of raising the skills of their workforce

Behind the Enigma John Ferris, 2020-10-20 The definitive history of GCHQ one of the world s most tight lipped intelligence agencies written with unprecedented access to classified archives For a hundred years GCHQ Government Communications Headquarters has been at the forefront of British secret statecraft Born out of the need to support military operations in the First World War and fought over ever since today it is the UK s biggest intelligence security and cyber agency and a powerful tool of the British state Famed primarily for its codebreaking achievements at Bletchley Park against Enigma ciphers in the Second World War GCHQ has intercepted interpreted and disrupted the information networks of Britain s foes for a century and yet it remains the least known and understood of British intelligence services It has been one of the most open minded too GCHQ has always demanded a diversity of intellectual firepower finding it in places which strike us as ground breaking today and allying it to the efforts of ordinary men and women to achieve extraordinary insights in war diplomacy and peace GCHQ shapes British decision making more than any other intelligence organisation and along with its partners in the Five Eyes intelligence partnership including the United States National Security Agency has become ever more crucial in an age governed by information technology Based on unprecedented access to documents in GCHQ s archive many of them hitherto classified this is the first book to authoritatively explain the entire history of one of the world s most potent intelligence agencies Many major contemporary conflicts between Russia and the West between Arab nations and Israel between state security and terrorism become fully explicable only in the light of the secret intelligence record Written by one of the world s leading experts in intelligence and strategy Behind the Enigma reveals the fascinating truth behind this most remarkable and enigmatic of organisations
