Handbook of Research on Applying Universal Design for Learning Across Disciplines: Concepts, Case Studies, and Practical Implementation Fovet, Frederic, 2021-01-22 Universal design for learning UDL has been hailed for over a decade as a revolutionary lens that allows campuses to shift their efforts to create inclusive environments In recent years UDL has gone beyond the field of disability and been explored with regards to international and indigenous students There is now a sizable body of literature that details the benefits of implementing UDL in higher education as well as a number of emerging studies examining the strategic challenges of developing UDL across institutions There is however still a relative paucity of research discussing the transformation of instruction or assessment in concrete terms Therefore there is a necessity for research and information on UDL that has already been implemented in classrooms and the practical examples of what this process of transformation looks like The Handbook of Research on Applying Universal Design for Learning Across Disciplines Concepts

Case Studies and Practical Implementation offers practical examples of UDL having successfully been embedded in courses within various disciplines and classroom formats as well as across the undergraduate and graduate sectors. The chapters provide case studies and concrete examples of what the UDL reflection on practice might look like in specific faculties and departments. While highlighting UDL in areas such as educational technology, student engagement, assignment design, and inclusive education, this book is ideally intended for inservice and preservice teachers, administrators, teacher educators, higher education professors and leaders, practitioners, researchers, academicians, and students interested in the integration of UDL into strategic academic plans. World Guide to Library, Archive and Information Science Education Axel

Community Colleges Deborah J. Boroch, Laura Hope, Bruce M. Smith, Robert S. Gabriner, Pamela M. Mery, Robert M. Johnstone, Rose Asera, 2010-02-22 Student Success in Community Colleges As more and more underprepared students enroll in college, basic skills education is an increasing concern for all higher education institutions. Student Success in Community Colleges offers education leaders, administrators, faculty, and staff an essential resource for helping these students succeed and advance in college. By applying the book's self assessment instrument, colleges can pinpoint how their current activities align with the most effective, proven practices. Once the gaps are identified, community college leaders can determine the best strategic direction for improvement. Drawing on a broad knowledge base and illustrative examples from the most current literature, the authors cover organizational, administrative, and instructional practices, program components, student support services, and strategies and professional learning and development. Designed to help engage community college leadership and practitioners in addressing the practices, structures, and obstacles that enhance or impede the success of basic skills students, the book's strategies can be tailored to various institutional levels, showing how to unite faculty, staff, and administrators in a cooperative effort to effect institutional change. Finally, Student Success in Community Colleges reveals how investing in a comprehensive basic skills infrastructure can be a financially sustainable model for the institution as well as substantially beneficial to students and society. This is a most unusual and valuable book; it is packed with careful analysis and practical suggestions for improving basic skills programs in community colleges. Compiled by a team of practicing professionals in teaching, administration, and research, it is knowledgeable about what has been done and imaginative and practical about what can be done to improve the access and success of community college students. K. Patricia Cross, professor of higher education, emerita, University of California, Berkeley. For its first hundred years, the community college was committed primarily to access in its second hundred years the commitment has changed dramatically to success This book provides the best road map to date on how community colleges can reach that goal Terry O Banion president emeritus League for Innovation and director Community College Leadership Program Walden University This guide is the most comprehensive source of information about all facets of basic skills or developmental education It will be invaluable not just to community college educators across the nation but also to those in high schools and four year colleges who share similar problems W Norton Grubb David Gardner Chair in Higher Education University of California Berkeley
