Hamish Fulton Walking Transformation:

Hamish Fulton: Walking Transformation Andreas Baur, 2014-10-10 For over 40 years British artist Hamish Fulton has been transforming walks into works of art From Soho to Saskatchewan from his home in Kent to the peaks of Nepal he has trekked hiked and trudged the world in solitude covering between 30 and 50 miles a day depending on the terrain in all weathers His walks all over the world conveyed in wall drawings and images photographs and objects quietly protest the excesses of urbanization in a sympathetic but uncompromising way Walking Transformation the new exhibition catalog documenting the nucleus of the recent exhibition at Villa Merkel in Esslingen chronicles his walks in Tibet and India With essays by writers Andreas Baur Freddy Langer and Tina Plokarz and illustrated with 30 color plates of works and installations from the exhibition

Walking Through Social Research Charlotte Bates, Alex Rhys-Taylor, 2017-04-11 As an ethnographic method walking has a long history but it has only recently begun to attract focused attention By walking alongside participants researchers have been able to observe experience and make sense of a broad range of everyday practices At the same time the idea of talking and walking with participants has enabled research to be informed by the landscapes in which it takes place By sharing conversations in place and at the participants pace sociologists are beginning to develop both a feel for and a theoretical understanding of the transient embodied and multisensual aspects of walking The result as this collection demonstrates is an understanding of the social world evermore congruent with people's lived experiences of it This interdisciplinary collection comprises a unique journey through a variety of walking methodologies The collection highlights a range of possibilities for enfolding sound smell emotion movement and memory into our accounts illustrating the sensuousness skill pitfalls and rewards of walking as a research practice Each chapter draws on original empirical research to present ways of walking and to discuss the conceptual practical and technical issues that walking entails Alongside feet on the ground the devices and technologies that make up hybrid research mobilities are brought to attention The collection is bookended by two short pedestrian essays that take the reader on illustrative urban walks suggesting routes through the city as well as ways in which the reader might make their own path through walking methods An innovative title Walking Through Social Research will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students researchers and academics who are interested in Sociology Geography Cultural Studies Urban Studies and Qualitative Research Methods

Sites of Transformation Louise Ann Wilson, 2022-02-10 Shortlisted for the PQ Best Publication Award in Performance Design Scenography 2023 In this book practitioner and researcher Louise Ann Wilson examines the expanding field of socially engaged scenography and promotes the development of scenography as a distinctive type of applied art and performance practice that seeks tangible therapeutic and transformative real world outcomes It is what Christopher Baugh calls scenography with purpose Using case studies drawn from the body of site specific walking performances she has created in the UK since 2011 Wilson demonstrates how she uses scenography to emplace challenging

marginalizing or missing life events into rural landscapes creating a site of transformation in which participants can reflect upon re image and re imagine their relationship to their circumstances Her work has addressed terminal illness and bereavement infertility and childlessness by circumstance and im mobility and memory These works have been created on mountains in caves along coastlines and over beaches Each case study is supported by evidential material demonstrating the effects and outcomes of the performance being discussed The book reveals Wilson s creative methodology her application of three distinct strands of transdisciplinary research into the site landscape the subject life event and with the people participants affected by it She explains the 7 scenographic principles she has developed and which apply theories and aesthetics relating to land scape art and walking and performance practices from Early Romanticism to the present day They are underpinned by the concept of the feminine material sublime and informed by the attentive autotopographic therapeutic and highly scenographic use of walking and landscape found in the work of Dorothy Wordsworth and her female contemporaries Case studies include Fissure 2011 Ghost Bird 2012 The Gathering 2014 Warnscale 2015 Mulliontide 2016 Dorothy s Room 2018 and Women s Walks to Remember With memory I was there 2018 2019 Walking Networks Blake Morris,2019-11-05 Since the early 2000s there has been an increase in artists who are walking as an essential part of their artistic practice This book identifies the unique attributes of walking to develop a definition for walking as an artistic medium Drawing on historical sources such as the walks of the Romantic poets Dadaists and Letterist Situationist Internationals it presents a practice based approach to walking focused on the radical memory of the medium The book covers three contemporary organisations working to develop the artistic medium of walking London s Walking Artists Network Scotland s Walking Institute and New York City s Walk Exchange and looks at how these different organisation s strategies contribute to the development of the artistic medium of walking The book is framed by five walking exercises and invites the reader to create a memory palace for the medium of walking as a practical exploration of artistic walking practices The Art of Walking William Chapman Sharpe,2023-05-23 A lively and thought provoking tour of the intertwined histories of art and walking A broad ranging book that has something for every Rambler Benjamin Riley New Criterion What does a walk look like In the first book to trace the history of walking images from cave art to contemporary performance William Chapman Sharpe reveals that a depicted walk is always more than a matter of simple steps Whether sculpted in stone painted on a wall or captured on film each detail of gait and dress each stride and gesture has a story to tell for every aspect of walking is shaped by social practices and environmental conditions From classical statues to the origins of cinema from medieval pilgrimages to public parks and the first footsteps on the moon walking has engendered a vast visual legacy intertwined with the path of Western art The path includes Romantic nature walkers and urban fl neur as well as protest marchers and cell phone zombies It features works by artists such as Botticelli Raphael Claude Monet Norman Rockwell Agn s Varda Maya Lin and Pope L In 100 chronologically arranged images this book shows how new ways of walking have spurred new means of representation and how walking has permeated our visual culture ever since humans began to depict themselves in art

Born to Walk Dan Rubinstein, 2015-04-01 The case for getting back on our feet The humble act of putting one foot in front of the other transcends age geography culture and class and is one of the most economical and environmentally responsible modes of transit Yet with our modern fixation on speed this healthy pedestrian activity has been largely left behind At a personal and professional crossroads writer editor and obsessive walker Dan Rubinstein travelled throughout the U S U K and Canada to walk with people who saw the act not only as a form of transportation and recreation but also as a path to a better world There are no magic bullet solutions to modern epidemics like obesity anxiety alienation and climate change But what if there is a simple way to take a step in the right direction Combining fascinating reportage eye opening research and Rubinstein s own discoveries Born to Walk explores how far this ancient habit can take us how much repair is within range and guarantees that you ll never again take walking for granted

Hamish Fulton. Keep moving. Catalogo della mostra (Bolzano, 18 febbraio-8 maggio 2005). Ediz. italiana, tedesca e inglese Hamish Fulton, Reinhold Messner, Andreas Hapkemeyer, Angela Vettese, 2005 This publication is the fruit of the artist s weeklong stay in the area of Corvara Italy

Elemental Sensuous John Murungi, 2016-09-23 Under the guidance of phenomenological insights this book presents the sensuous in its elemental sense The elemental is not to be confused here with the classical notion of the atom which is viewed as a self contained entity into which all reality is reducible Rather the elemental is a living creative force that resists categorization This force embodies the principle of openness and opening a principle celebrated and given expression by numerous artists and other friends of the sensuous As elemental the sensuous irreducibly expresses itself in multiple ways The editors of this volume avoid posting themselves between the sensuous and those to whom it presents itself Each of the contributors here responds to the call of the elemental and each finds his or her starting point where everyone else starts and ends The multiple voices brought together here constitute a concert with the elemental sensuous as the conductor In reading this book the reader will become more aware of himself or herself and more aware of the world in which he or she lives

Art Nature Dialogues John K. Grande, 2012-02-01 Art Nature Dialogues offers interviews with artists working with in and around nature and the environment The interviews explore art practices ecological issues and values as they pertain to the siting of works the use of materials and the ethics of artmaking John K Grande includes interviews with Hamish Fulton David Nash Bob Verschuere Herman de Vries Alan Sonfist Nils Udo Michael Singer Patrick Dougherty Ursula von Rydingsvard and others
