The output of this junction is the error signal, which is processed by a controller $C(s)$. The controller's output is the control signal, which is then processed by the plant $G(s)$. The plant's output is the system output $y(t)$. This output is also fed back through a feedback block $H(s)$ to a second summing junction, which subtracts the feedback signal from the reference input to produce the error signal again.

The distance from the left support to the center is labeled 'L/2', and the distance from the center to the right support is also labeled 'L/2'. The total length of the beam is labeled 'L'.
