

Interactive Listening Guide Template Instructions (including the AABA, I-vi-IV-V, and 12-bar blues templates)

Templates developed in Flash by Dr. Scott D. Lipscomb ©2005

To create your own interactive listening guide, simply follow the steps below:

- start Flash and open the appropriate template file:
 - AABA: "aaba_template fla"
 - I-vi-IV-V: "I-vi-IV-V_template fla"
 - 12-bar blues: "12barBlues_template fla"
- immediately, save the file with a new name, so the template file always remains unchanged
 - I recommend adopting a simple naming convention such as: "aaba_SongTitle fla" or "12barblues_SongTitle fla," replacing SongTitle with the name of the musical example you will use
 - as a general rule, you should avoid using spaces and/or special characters in file names that will be accessed via the internet
- select an MP3 file that exemplifies the appropriate song structure and import it into the movie's library
 - File-Import-Import to Library...
 - then browse to the file, select it, and click on the "Open" button
- once the import process has completed ...
 - click on frame 1 of the "music" layer in the Timeline panel
 - open the movie's Library (Window-Library), select the MP3 file listed in the Library window, then drag-and-drop it anywhere on the Stage
 - you will know you have succeeded when you see a representation of the digital sound file in the "music" layer
 - in order for the Listening Guide to work properly, the sound Sync mode must be set to "Stream"; to check this ...
 - open the Properties window (Window-Properties) and check the setting; if you do not see the complete set of options in the image below, click on the downward pointing triangle in the lower right corner of the Properties window to expand the information area
