Entrepreneurial Finance Janet Kiholm Smith,Richard L. Smith,Richard T. Bliss,2011-03-22 Entrepreneurial Finance Strategy Valuation and Deal Structure applies the theory and methods of finance and economics to the rapidly evolving field of entrepreneurial finance This approach reveals how entrepreneurs venture capitalists and outside investors can rely on academic foundations as a framework to guide decision making Unlike other texts this book prepares readers for a wide variety of situations and problems that stakeholders might confront in an entrepreneurial venture Readers will find a unique and direct focus on value creation as the objective of each strategic and financial choice that an entrepreneur or investor makes The authors specifically address the influences of risk and uncertainty on new venture success devoting substantial attention to methods of financial modeling and contract design Finally the authors provide a comprehensive survey of approaches to new venture valuation with an emphasis on applications The book appeals to a wide range of teaching and learning preferences To help bring the book to life simulation exercises appear throughout the text For those who favor the case method the authors provide a series of interactive cases that correspond with the book chapters as well as suggestions for published cases Finally the book is organized to complement the development of a business plan for those who wish to create one as they read along Entrepreneurial Finance is most effectively used in conjunction with a companion website <http://www.sup.org/entrepreneurialfinance> On this site Venture Sim simulation software spreadsheets templates simulation applications interactive cases and tutorials are available for download For those teaching from the book the authors also provide an invaluable suite of instructor's resources

Forestry Economics John E. Wagner, 2011-07-26 Forestry Economics introduces students and practitioners to all aspects of the management and economics of forestry The book adopts the approach of managerial economics textbooks and applies this to the unique processes and problems faced by managers of forests While most forestry economics books are written by economists for future economists what many future forest and natural resource managers need is to understand what economic information is and how to use it to make better business and management decisions John E Wagner draws on his twenty years of experience teaching and working in the field of forest resource economics to present students with an accessible understanding of the unique production processes and problems faced by forest and other natural resource managers There are three unique features of this book The first is its organization The material is organized around two common economic models used in forest and natural resources management decision making The second is the use of case studies from various disciplines Outdoor and Commercial Recreation Wood Products Engineering Forest Products and Forestry The purpose of these case studies is to provide students with applications of the concepts being discussed within the text The third is revisiting the question of how to use economic information to make better business decisions at the end of each chapter This ties each chapter to the preceding ones and reinforces the hypothesis that a solid working knowledge of these economic models and the information they contain are necessary for making better business decisions This textbook is an invaluable source of clear and accessible information on forestry economics and management for not only economics students but for students of other disciplines and those already working in forestry and natural resources

Managing Market Complexity Andrea Teglio, Simone Alfarano, Eva Camacho-Cuena, Miguel Ginés-Vilar, 2012-07-16 The field of artificial economics AE embraces a broad range of methodologies relying on computer simulations in order to model and study the complexity of economic and social phenomena The overarching principle of AE is the analysis of aggregate properties of artificial economies populated by adaptive agents that are equipped with behavioural rules and specific individual targets These aggregate properties are neither foreseen nor intended by the artificial agents conversely they are emerging characteristics of such artificially simulated systems The book presents a peer reviewed collection of papers addressing a variety of issues related to macroeconomics industrial organization networks management and finance as well as purely methodological issues The British National
