Answering questions from its users is one of the most important services undertaken by a library's staff. Yet it is one of the most difficult, least understood and most neglected of subjects. This book is a guide for library staff to check where to go to quickly find the answers they need. It is designed as a first point of reference for library staff to be depended on if they are unfamiliar with the subject of an enquiry or wish to find out more and is arranged in an easily searchable A-Z list of around 250 of the subject areas most frequently handled at enquiry desks. Each subject entry lists information sources and where to locate them, including printed and electronic sources, relevant websites and other contacts for referral purposes. Entries also include notes on typical questions asked and how to tackle them, including supplementary questions you may need to ask enquirers to find out what they really want. This new book is his response: What is the Point of being a Christian? One is pointed to God who is the point of everything. If one thinks of religion as just useful, then one has reduced it to another consumer product. But if we are pointed to God, then this should make a difference to how we live. This is not a moral superiority. Christians are usually no better than anyone else. But the lives of Christians should be marked by some form of hope, freedom, happiness and courage. If they are not, then why should anyone believe a word they say? In this new book, Cardinal Radcliffe is at his best, writing with a prophetic edge. His argument for Christian belief is profoundly Catholic and profoundly human. But what is just as remarkable is Radcliffe's argument for and interpretation of the Christian Gospel, couched in a deep understanding of human nature and the problems and anxieties of modern men and women. Radcliffe is far distant from the theologian's ivory tower and yet his understanding of the Gospel is profoundly theological The frame of reference for this book is wide and it is based amongst other things on Fr Radcliffe s pastoral experience of dealing with people with problematic marriages those struggling with celibacy those trying to understand the nature of religious authority and those trying to remain loyal to the Church which finds their sexual orientation irregular
