

Blank's Levels of Questioning

LEVEL 1

The objects/things are present (here and now).

What's that?

Who's that?

What are you doing?

What's the lady doing?

Find one like this.

Find one the same as this.

What did you touch?

What's that called?

LEVEL 2

The objects/things are present (here and now), but the child has to look at them in more detail.

What's happening?

What is in the box?

Where's Spot?

What colour is the ball?

What can you do with a ball?

How are these different?

Tell me something that is a fruit.

Find the one that is ... and ...

What can you do with scissors?

Where's the chicken?

LEVEL 3

The objects/things may or may not be present and the questions are more complex and subtle.

Find one to use with this. (knife → fork)

What will happen next?

Tell me something different that ...

What is a ...? (word definition)

Find the things that are not ...

Following a set of directions → First open the box. Then put the ball in the box. Then hide the box.

How are "these" the same?

LEVEL 4

The objects/things are not present and the child must use reasoning and problem solving.

What will happen if....?

What could you do when?

How can we tell that ...?

What could we use to ...?

Why can't we ...?

Why is a ... made of ...?

Why can't we ride a lion?

Origins of Intelligence M. Lewis,2013-11-11 A preface is an excellent opportunity for an editor to speak directly to the reader and share with him the goals hopes struggles and production of a volume such as this It seems to me that I have an important obligation to tell you the origins of this volume This is no idle chatter but rather an integral part of scientific inquiry It is important before delving into content theory and methodology to talk about motivation values and goals Indeed it is always necessary to explicate from the very beginning of any intellectual and scientific inquiry the implicit assumptions governing that exercise Failure to do so is not only an ethical but a scientific failure We learn albeit all too slowly that science is a moral enterprise and that values must be explicitly stated removing from the shadows those implicit beliefs that often motivate and deter mine our results No better or more relevant example can be found than in the review of the implicit assumptions of the early IQ psychometri cians in this country see Kamin s book The Science and Politics of IQ 1975

A Self-directing Guide to the Study of Child Psychology Gerald Richard Levin,1973

The Relevance of Education Jerome Bruner,1971-01-17 Education is in a state of crisis It has failed to respond to changing social needs lagging behind rather than leading The crisis that Jerome Bruner identifies in this volume admits of no easy solutions But the noted American psychologist makes clear that educational reform must begin with the understanding of how a child acquires information and converts knowledge into action Drawing on his current work on infant development Bruner underscores the importance of formulating educational strategies that expand rather than constrict the skills of the young learner Since education takes place under conditions imposed by a technological society Professor Bruner maintains that it is not enough to attempt reform through minor curriculum revisions The program that fails to set knowledge within the context of action must be replaced And to be truly relevant to our social needs the scope of education must be extended toward overcoming the severe handicaps faced by children from impoverished areas

Thinking and Learning Skills S. F. Chipman,J. W. Segal,R. Glaser,2013-09-05 First Published in 1985 Currently two streams of endeavor offer promise for improving school effectiveness in developing students higher cognitive capacities One of these is represented by the increased interest of school districts colleges and universities in identifying ways to help their students build the cognitive skills that enable them to learn and think effectively What can be done they ask beyond teaching the fundamentals of reading writing arithmetic and subject matter knowledge to enable students to use their skills and knowledge for effective problem solving reasoning and comprehension The second stream is apparent in recent scientific advances in the study of intelligence human development problem solving the structure of acquired knowledge and the skills of learning This is volume two of a collection of conference papers based on this topic
