Naydan, 2016-05-23 Rhetorics of Religion in American Fiction considers the way in which contemporary American authors address the subject of belief in the post 9 11 Age of Terror Naydan suggests that after 9 11 fiction by Mohsin Hamid Laila Halaby Philip Roth Don DeLillo John Updike and Barbara Kingsolver dramatizes and works to resolve impasses that exist between believers of different kinds at the extremes These impasses emerge out of the religious paradox that shapes America as simultaneously theocratic and secular and they exist for instance between liberals and fundamentalists between liberals and certain evangelicals between fundamentalists and artists and between fundamentalists of different varieties Ultimately Naydan argues that these authors function as literary theologians of sorts and forge a relevant space beyond or between extremes They fashion faith or lack thereof as hybridized and hence as a negotiation among secularism atheism faith fundamentalism and fanaticism In so doing they invite their readers into contemplations of religious difference and new ways of memorializing 9 11

Under the Literary Microscope Sina Farzin, Susan M. Gaines, Roslynn D. Haynes, 2021-04-20 Science in fiction, geek novels, lab lit, whatever one calls them, a new generation of science novels has opened a space in which the reading public can experience and think about the powers of science to illuminate nature as well as to generate and mitigate social change and risks. Under the Literary Microscope examines the implications of the discourse taking place in and around this creative space. Exploring works by authors as disparate as Barbara Kingsolver, Richard Powers, Ian McEwan, Ann Patchett, Margaret Atwood, and Michael Crichton, these essays address the economization of scientific institutions, ethics, risk, and gender disparity in scientific work, the reshaping of old stereotypes of scientists, science in an evolving sci-fi genre, and reader reception and potential contributions of the novels to public understandings of science. Under the Literary Microscope illuminates the new ways in which fiction has been grappling with scientific issues from climate change and pandemics to artificial intelligence and genomics and makes a valuable addition to both contemporary literature and science studies courses.

In addition to the editors, the contributors include Anna Auguscik, Jay Clayton, Carol Colatrella, Sonja F. Cker, Raymond Haynes, Luz María Hernández Nieto, Emanuel Herold, Karin Hoepker, Anton Kirchhofer, Antje Kley, Natalie Roxburgh, Uwe Schimank, Sherryl Vint, and Peter Weingart.

Handbook of Ecocriticism and Cultural Ecology Hubert Zapf, 2016-05-10 Ecocriticism has emerged as one of the most fascinating and rapidly growing fields of recent literary and cultural studies. From its regional origins in late twentieth-century Anglo-American academia, it has become a worldwide phenomenon which involves a decidedly transdisciplinary and transnational paradigm that promises to return a new sense of relevance to research and teaching in the humanities. A distinctive feature of the present handbook, in comparison with other survey volumes, is the combination of ecocriticism with cultural ecology, reflecting an emphasis on the cultural transformation of ecological processes and on the crucial role of literature, art, and other forms of cultural creativity for the evolution of societies towards sustainable futures. In state-of-the-art contributions by leading international scholars in the field, this handbook maps some of the most important developments in contemporary ecocritical thought. It introduces key theoretical concepts, issues, and directions of ecocriticism and cultural ecology and demonstrates their relevance for the analysis of texts and other cultural phenomena. Anthropocene Encounters: New Directions in Green Political Thinking Frank Biermann, Eva Lövbrand, 2019-02-07 Explores the significance of the Anthropocene for environmental politics, analysing political concepts in view of contemporary environmental challenges. Science Fiction and Climate Change Andrew Milner, J. R. Burgmann, 2020 This is a timely comprehensive and thoroughly researched study of climate fiction from around the world, including novels, short stories, films, and other formats. Informed by a sociological perspective, it will be an invaluable resource for students and scholars looking to enter and expand the field of climate fiction studies. Eco-Literature and Environmental Advocacy Nasser Dasht Peyma, Teaching the Literature of Climate Change Debra J. Rosenthal, 2024-04-26 Over the past several decades, writers such as Margaret Atwood, Paolo Bacigalupi, Octavia E. Butler, and Kathy Acker have explored climate change through literature, reflecting current anxieties about human impact on the planet. Emphasizing the importance of interdisciplinarity, this volume embraces literature as a means to cultivate students' understanding of the ongoing climate crisis, ethics in times of disaster, and the intrinsic intersectionality of environmental issues. Contributors discuss speculative climate futures, the Anthropocene, postcolonialism, climate anxiety, and the usefulness of storytelling in engaging with catastrophe. The essays offer approaches to teaching interdisciplinary and cross-listed courses, including strategies for team teaching across disciplines and for building connections between humanities majors and STEM majors. The volume concludes with essays that explore ways to address grief and to contemplate a hopeful future in the face of apocalyptic predictions. Global Fictions and Environmental Disaster Martin Premoli, 2025-08-07 Examining contemporary literary depictions of environmental disasters through a North-South axis, this book explores the resonances and dissonances between environmentalisms of marginalized communities in the U.S. and the global South. Pairing anti-colonial texts from the United States with examples from the Global South, it interrogates the complexity of global precarity and particular forms of environmental violence. Each pairing is linked to a specific manifestation of environmental disaster, such as hurricane, drought, species extinction, and agricultural collapse. Featuring texts from authors such as Jesmyn Ward, Monique Roffey, Paolo Bacigalupi, Alexis Wright, Linda Hogan, Henrietta Rose Innes, Ruth Ozeki, and Sonora Jha, this book models how a comparative global North/global South approach to literary studies can help us untangle the complex power dynamics and differentials of the Anthropocene. Climate Change in Popular Culture James Craig Holte, 2022-06-17 An invaluable resource for general readers investigating climate change, this book examines the impact of climate change on popular culture and analyzes how writers and directors treat the disasters caused by climate change in their novels and films. Climate Change in Popular Culture: A Warming World in the American Imagination is the first study that includes analyses of both fiction and popular nonfiction works devoted to climate change. In addition, the book examines a number of classic works from the perspective of the growing field of climate change literature and includes a brief history of climate change science as well basic scientific definitions all intended for general readers The text provides an introduction to the science politics and economics of climate change It also includes both historical overviews and potential probable futures projected by leading climate scientists and environmental writers In addition the text looks at how such creative writers and directors as Margaret Atwood John Steinbeck Paulo Bacigalupi Kim Stanley Robinson T C Boyle Michael Crichton and Octavia Butler among others have used the disasters caused by climate change in their work Literary Animal Studies and the Climate Crisis Sune Borkfelt, Matthias Stephan, 2022-11-22 Literary Animal Studies and the Climate Crisis connects insights from the field of literary animal studies with the urgent issues of climate change and environmental degradation and features considerations of new interventions by literature in relation to these pressing questions and debates This volume informs academic debates in terms of how nonhuman animals figure in our cultural imagination of topics such as climate change extinction animal otherness the posthuman and environmental crises Using a diverse set of methodologies each chapter presents relevant cases which discuss the various aspects of these interstices This volume is an intersection between literary animal studies and climate fiction intended as an interdisciplinary intervention that speaks to the global climate debate and is thus relevant across the environmental humanities
