Chapter 9: Life, Health, and Disability Insurance

LIFE INSURANCE: AN INTRODUCTION:

Define life insurance and describe its purpose and principle.

What is Life Insurance?

- A person joins a risk-sharing group (an insurance company) by purchasing a contract (a policy).
- Under the policy, the insurance company promises to pay a sum of money at the time of the policyholder's death to the person or persons selected by him or her (the beneficiaries).
- In the case of an endowment policy, the money is paid to the policyholder (the insured) if he or she is alive on the future date (the maturity date) named in the policy.
- The insurance company makes this promise in return for the insured's agreement to pay it a sum of money (the premium) periodically.

The Purpose of Life Insurance:

Most people buy life insurance to protect someone who depends on them from financial losses caused by their death.

Life insurance proceeds may be used to:

- Pay off a home mortgage or other debts at the time of death.
- Provide lump-sum payments through an endowment to children when they reach a specified age.
- Provide an education or income for children.
- Make charitable bequests after death.
- Provide a retirement income.
- Accumulate savings.
- Establish a regular income for survivors.
- Set up an estate plan.
- Make estate and death tax payments.

DETERMINING YOUR LIFE INSURANCE NEEDS:

Determine your life insurance needs.

Do You Need Life Insurance?

Your stage in the life cycle and the type of household you live in will influence this decision. Single persons living alone or with their parents usually have little or no need for life insurance. Parents with small children usually have the greatest need for life insurance.

Determining Your Life Insurance Objectives:

1. How much money do you want to leave to your dependants should you die today?

Norton Grubb,2009-01-15 Can money buy high quality education Studies find only a weak relationship between public school funding and educational outcomes In The Money Myth W Norton Grubb proposes a powerful paradigm shift in the way we think about why some schools thrive and others fail The greatest inequalities in America s schools lie in factors other than fiscal support Fundamental differences in resources other than money for example in leadership instruction and tracking policies explain the deepening divide in the success of our nation s schoolchildren The Money Myth establishes several principles for a bold new approach to education reform Drawing on a national longitudinal dataset collected over twelve years Grubb makes a crucial distinction between simple resources and those compound complex and abstract resources that cannot be readily bought Money can buy simple resources such as higher teacher salaries and smaller class sizes but these resources are actually some of the weakest predictors of educational outcomes On the other hand complex resources pertaining to school practices are astonishingly strong predictors of success Grubb finds that tracking policies have the most profound and consistent impact on student outcomes over time Schools often relegate low performing students particularly minorities to vocational remedial and special education tracks So even in well funded schools resources may never reach the students who need them most Grubb also finds that innovation in the classroom has a critical impact on student success Here too America s schools are stratified Teachers in underperforming schools tend to devote significant amounts of time to administration and discipline while instructors in highly ranked schools dedicate the bulk of their time to engaged learning using varied pedagogical approaches Effective schools distribute leadership among many instructors and administrators and they foster a sense of both trust and accountability These schools have a clear mission and coherent agenda for reaching goals Underperforming schools by contrast implement a variety of fragmented reforms and practices without developing a unified plan This phenomenon is perhaps most powerfully visible in the negative repercussions of No Child Left Behind In a frantic attempt to meet federal standards and raise test scores quickly more and more schools are turning to scripted off the shelf curricula These practices discourage student engagement suppress teacher creativity and hold little promise of improving learning beyond the most basic skills Grubb shows that infusions of money alone won't eradicate inequality in America's schools We need to address the vast differences in the way school communities operate By looking beyond school finance The Money Myth gets to the core reasons why education in America is so unequal and provides clear recommendations for addressing this chronic national problem
