importancia del tejido productivo local vinculado a las prácticas socioculturales valores tradiciones y prácticas políticas administrativas que realizan los agentes productivos en el territorio Ante el proceso globalizador y con una política orientada a mirar hacia el sector externo difícilmente quedan visibles las dinámicas locales lo que genera una casi nula posibilidad de articular los factores productivos socioculturales y políticos administrativos necesarios para integrar las economías locales con sus regiones y territorios Para evidenciar la importancia y necesidad de fortalecer lo local se plantea una investigación cuyas bases epistemológicas se sustentaron en las metodologías cuantitativa y cualitativa. No se busca defender una u otra corriente metodológica; únicamente se aplica el criterio de utilidad porque el objetivo de la investigación lo requiere. En el uso de la metodología cuantitativa se tuvo el propósito de identificar la articulación entre los agentes productivos locales, unidades económicas, así como la interacción de estas con sus autoridades locales que inducen y promueven el desarrollo local. Desde la metodología cualitativa se propuso explicar cómo se establecen las relaciones entre las autoridades y los productores económicos en la formulación de los programas dirigidos a apoyar el tejido productivo local. La investigación se llevó a cabo en 19 municipios del sur del estado de Tlaxcala que conforman una región particular de amplia dinámica económica. Los resultados son reveladores pues se identifican encadenamientos en el aspecto productivo, así como con los aspectos socioculturales y políticos administrativos. Confronting Change Huberto Juárez Núñez, Steve Babson, 1998. Autoworkers find themselves in a rapidly changing world as transnational corporations seek new forms of work organization and new boundaries for a North American auto industry. Inside the factory management pursues new models of lean production that require workers to produce more with less: less time, less support, less material in an atmosphere of accelerated and intensified labor. Outside the factory, freetrade policies and regional investment strategies widen the reach of transnational corporations, creating new opportunities in Mexico, Canada and the U.S. for pitting worker against worker in a mutually destructive competition for jobs. In Confronting Change, researchers from a diverse range of universities and unions explore the impact of these changes on work and workers. The case studies and analyses show the wide range of potential outcomes as workers struggle to become actors rather than victims in the emerging North American auto industry.
