Civilising Grass Jonathan Cane, 2019-06-01 Civilising Grass is a socio cultural analysis of the lawn on the South African highveld exploring the complex relationship between landscape and power in the country's colonial modernist and post apartheid eras Drawing from eco criticism queer theory art history and postcolonial studies this book offers a lively and provocative reading of texts and illustrations to reveal the racial and gendered aspects of natural environments It argues that the lawn an ordinary and often overlooked feature of South African everyday life is neither natural nor innocent Rather like other colonial landscapes the lawn functions as a site of commonplace violence of oppression dispossession and segregation This book explores an eclectic archive of artistic literary and architectural lawns between 1886 and 2017 analysing poems maps gardening blogs adverts ethnographies and ephemera as well as literature by Koos Prinsloo Marlene van Niekerk and Ivan Vladislavic In addition Civilising Grass includes colour reproductions of lawn artworks by David Goldblatt Lungiswa Gqunta Pieter Hugo Anton Kannemeyer Sabelo Mlangeni Moses Tladi and Kemang Wa Lehulere Examination of these and other works reveals the organic relationship between lawn and wildness and between lawn and human non human actors thereby providing rich and unexpected insights into South African society past and present

Responses to the 'Arabellions' Tanja Börzel, Assem Dandashly, Thomas Risse, 2017-10-02 This book studies the reactions by external actors including the European Union to the events unfolding in the Arab world beginning in December 2010 In particular contributors look at external actors attempts to balance their desire for stability with their normative principles toward human rights and democracy The book compares the action and inaction of the EU with other international and regional players including the United States Russia Turkey and Israel and assesses the response of these actors to the Arabellions events analysing changes in their approaches to the Arab region The contributions to this book answer three questions 1 How have external actors assessed the Arabellions and what role did they see for themselves in this context 2 Which goals and instruments did external actors pursue toward the MENA region In particular how did they deal with conflicting goals such as support for human rights and democracy on the one hand and concerns about security and stability on the other 3 How can we explain the varying responses of external actors to the Arabellions This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of European Integration

English Language Teaching during Japan's Post-war Occupation Mayumi Ohara, John Buchanan, 2018-06-27 In 1945 Japan had to adjust very rapidly to sudden defeat to the arrival of the American Occupation and to the encounter with the English language together with a different outlook on many aspects of society and government This scholarly book is based on in depth interviews with people now aged who were school students at the time of the Occupation and who experienced first hand this immense cultural change The book considers the nature of the changing outlook including democratization the new role for the Japanese Emperor and all this represented for the place of tradition in Japanese life and the growing emphasis on individualism away from collectivism It discusses the changing system of education itself including new structures and new textbooks and relates the feelings of the participants as they came to terms with defeat and the language and culture of the former enemy Overall the book provides a fascinating insight into a key period of Japanese history

Redefining Tandem Language and Culture Learning in Higher Education Claire Tardieu, Céline Horgues, 2019-08-21 This book provides a comprehensive critical account of tandem learning charting its evolution from its origins in European educational settings to modern programs offering new perspectives on the approach s role within higher education Taking stock of the ways in which increased globalization has produced new linguistic and sociocultural realities the volume begins by looking back at the development of tandem learning over the last several decades growing out of a need to create more opportunities for L2 learners to communicate in their target language The book then examines the different learning objectives and learning outcomes of tandem learning arrangements moving toward a discussion of tandem learning's potential role in shaping language policy and the unique challenges involved in implementing tandem programs at higher education institutions. The final section of the book brings the previous discussions together to consider new tools and technology and the ways in which they can better equip language educators to implement tandem learning in their own practice. Highlighting tandem learning's potential to promote multilingual and multicultural learning on a global scale, this volume will be of particular interest to students and researchers in intercultural communication, language education, multilingualism, and applied linguistics.

Economies of Writing Bruce Horner, Bruce Nordquist, Susan M. Ryan, 2017-03-01

Economies of Writing advances scholarship on political economies of writing and writing instruction, considering them in terms of course, subject, pedagogy, technology, and social practice. Taking the economic as a necessary point of departure and contention for the field, the collection insists that writing concerns are inevitably participants in political markets in their consideration of forms of valuation, production, and circulation of knowledge with labor and with capital. Approaching the economic as plural, contingent, and political, chapters explore complex forces shaping the production and valuation of literacies, languages, identities, and institutions, and consider their implications for composition scholarship, teaching, administration, and public rhetorics. Chapters engage a range of issues, including knowledge transfer, cyberpublics, graduate writing courses, and internationalized web domains. Economies of Writing challenges dominant ideologies of writing, writing skills, writing assessment, language, writing technology, and public rhetoric by revealing the complex and shifting valuations of writing practices as they circulate within and across different economies. The volume is a significant contribution to rhetoric and composition's understanding of and ways to address its seemingly perennial unease about its own work.
