English Sindh Text Board:

Language and Identity across Modes of Communication Dwi Noverini Djenar, Ahmar Mahboob, Ken Cruickshank, 2015-03-10 This edited collection examines how people use a range of different modalities to negotiate influence and or project their own or other people's identities. It brings together linguistic scholars concerned with issues of identity through a study of language use in various types of written texts, conversation performance and interviews. The English Language in Pakistan Robert Jackson Baumgardner, 1993 In Pakistan The English Language Is Extensively Used In Both The Electronic And Printed Media As Well As In The Domains Of Government Commerce Higher Education And The Military

Sind's Contribution to English Amena Khamisani, 1975 Representations of the World in Language Textbooks Karen Risager, 2018-01-08 This book presents a new and comprehensive framework for the analysis of representations of culture, society and the world in textbooks for foreign and second language learning. The framework is transferable to other kinds of learning materials and to other subjects. The framework distinguishes between five approaches: national studies, citizenship education studies, cultural studies, postcolonial studies and transnational studies. In a series of concrete analyses, the book illustrates how one can describe and uncover representations of the world in textbooks for English, German, French, Spanish, Danish and Esperanto. Each analysis is accompanied by suggestions of possible supplements and changes. The book points to the need for language learning materials to deal seriously with knowledge about the world, including its diversities and problems. Globalisation and Historiography of National Leaders Joseph Zajda, Tatyana Tsyrlina-Spady, Michael Lovorn, 2016-12-23 Globalisation and Historiography of National Leaders: Symbolic Representations in School Textbooks the 18th book in the 24 volume book series Globalisation, Comparative Education and Policy Research explores the interrelationship between ideology, national identity, national history and historical heroes, setting it in a global context. Based on this focus, the chapters represent hand-picked scholarly research on major discourses in the field of history textbooks and symbolic representations of national heroes and draw upon recent studies in the areas of globalisation, history textbooks and national leaders. A number of researchers have written on the importance of teaching national history in order to foster national identity and a sense of belonging to a certain society, state and people among the younger generation. Some nations prefer to create national heroes out of their political leaders who are still in power and whose lives and reputation are portrayed as being eminently spotless. Using diverse comparative education paradigms from critical theory, social semiotics and historical comparative research, the authors analyse the unpacking of the ideological agenda hidden behind the choice and lionization or silencing of the preferred national heroes. They provide an informed critique of various historical narratives depicting national leaders and national heroes. The book provides an easily accessible, practical yet scholarly source of information on international concerns in the field of globalisation, history education and policy research. Offering an essential sourcebook of ideas for researchers, history educators, practitioners and policymakers in the fields of globalisation and history.
