The Internet: A Great Invention

INTRODUCTION

The Internet has changed the way we live. It started as something that we could access only through a computer, but nowadays it is everywhere, and I love it!

ONE THING I LIKE find answers

One of the cool things about the world wide web is that you can look up anything you want and find out the answer straight away. Isn't that fantastic? For example, imagine you are arguing with your friends about how to do something. Easy solution: go online and find the answer!

WHAT I LIKE BEST learn stuff cheaply & RECOMMENDATION www.udemy.com

However, the greatest thing about the Internet is how you can learn tons of things very cheaply or even for free! In fact, my favourite website is www.udemy.com, where people register to teach and learn about different things: music, website design, making apps, history, etc. So I totally recommend it to everyone!

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, the Internet has a lot of great things. For me, the best are finding information and learning online. What about you? What are your favourite things about it?

Format Of English Articles:

Writing Scientific Research Articles Margaret Cargill, Patrick D. T. O'Connor, 2011-09-13 Margaret Cargill's background as a linguist and research communications educator and Patrick O'Connor's experience as both research scientist and educator synergize to improve both the science and art of scientific writing. If the authors' goal is to give scientists the tools to write and publish compelling well-documented clear narratives that convey their work honestly and in proper context, they have succeeded admirably. Veterinary Pathology July 2009. The book is clearly written, has a logical step-by-step structure, is easy to read, and contains a lot of sensible advice about how to get scientific work published in international journals. The book is a most useful addition to the literature covering scientific writing. Aquaculture International April 2009. Writing Scientific Research Articles: Strategy and Steps guides authors in how to write as well as what to write to improve their chances of having their articles accepted for publication in international peer-reviewed journals. The book is designed for scientists who use English as a first or an additional language for research students and those who teach them paper writing skills and for early career researchers wanting to hone their skills as authors and mentors. It provides clear processes for selecting target journals and writing each section of a manuscript, starting with the results. The stepwise learning process uses practical exercises to develop writing and data presentation skills through analysis of well-written example papers. Strategies are presented for responding to referee comments as well as ideas for developing discipline-specific English language skills for manuscript writing. The book is designed for use by individuals or in a class setting. Visit the companion site at www.writeresearch.com.au for more information. Teaching of English Ahmad, 2009. Linguists of Tomorrow Kleanthes K. Grohmann, Aljona Shelkova, 2012-04-25. This volume is a selection of papers presented at Linguists of Tomorrow, the 1st Cyprus Postgraduate Conference in Theoretical and Applied Linguistics, held at the University of Cyprus on 7-8 May 2010. The collection includes nine chapters by postgraduate students of linguistics as well as two illustrious keynote papers by Prof Barbara Lust and Prof Thomas McFadden. The topics range from theoretical linguistics (syntax, semantics, morphology, and phonology) to psycholinguistics, first and second language acquisition, language impairments, and language processing, and applied linguistics (bilingualism, dictionaries, writing, and ethnolinguistics). As such, this collection of papers by established as well as up-and-coming researchers will appeal to a wide range of scholars, students, and academics alike interested in current issues in linguistics. Article Emergence in Old English Lotte Sommerer, 2018-05-22. This book investigates nominal determination in Old English and the emergence of the definite and the indefinite article. Analyzing Old English prose texts, it discusses the nature of linguistic categorization and argues that a usage-based cognitive constructionalist approach best explains when, how, and why the article category developed. It is shown that the development of the OE demonstrative se and the OE numeral an should not be told as a story of two individual grammaticalizing morphemes but must be reconceptualized in constructional terms. The emergence of the morphological category article follows from constructional changes in the linguistic networks of OE speakers and especially from grammatical constructionalization i.e. the emergence of a new schematic mostly procedural form meaning pairing which previously did not exist in the construction. Next to other functional cognitive reasons the book especially highlights analogy and frequency effects as driving forces of linguistic change.

German and English Dirk Siepmann, 2020-11-29 German and English Academic Usage and Academic Translation focuses on academic and popular scientific academic usage. This book's brief is both theoretical and practical: on the theoretical side it aims to provide a systematic corpus based account of current academic usage in English and in German as well as of the translation problems associated with various academic genres; on the practical side it seeks to equip academic translators with the skills required to produce target language text in accordance with disciplinary conventions. The main perspective taken is that of a translator working from German into English but the converse direction is also regularly taken into account. Most of the examples used are based on errors that occurred in real life translation jobs. Additional practice materials and sample translations are available as eResources here: www.routledge.com/9780367619022. This book will be an important resource for professionals aspiring to translate academic texts, linguists interested in academic usage, translation scholars and graduate and post graduate students.

EFL Learners' Acquisition of the English Article System Mahmoud Hajjar, 2024-03-11 This book addresses several issues that have been controversial in the literature surrounding second language L2 acquisition including the role that the first language L1 plays in development, the ability of L2 learners to acquire properties of functional categories not realised in their L1, the nature of L2 development itself and the extent to which such development is constrained by innate linguistic capacities, universal grammar. These issues are considered by investigating the acquisition of the English articles by speakers of an L1 that has an article system encoding definiteness (Arabic) and an L1 that lacks articles (Japanese) at different proficiency levels in English. Those who will find this book useful include policy makers in language education as well as students and their teachers. Researchers in the field of second language acquisition can benefit from reading this book to keep abreast of the latest developments in this area in the hope of stimulating further research.

Communicating Science Alan G. Gross, Joseph E. Harmon, Michael S. Reidy, 2002 This book describes the development of the scientific article from its modest beginnings to the global phenomenon that it has become today. The authors focus on changes in the style, organization and argumentative structure of scientific communication over time. This outstanding resource is the definitive study on the rhetoric of science.
