Richard Kowles, 2013-12-01 The principle objective of this book is to help undergraduate students in the analysis of genetic problems Many students have a great deal of difficulty doing genetic analysis and the book will be useful regardless of which genetics text is being used Most texts provide some kinds of problems and answers few if any however show the students how to actually solve the problem Often the student has no idea how the answer was derived This work emphasizes solutions not just answers The strategy is to provide the student with the essential steps and the reasoning involved in conducting the analysis Throughout the book an attempt is made to present a balanced account of genetics Topics therefore center about Mendelian cytogenetic molecular quantitative and population genetics with a few more specialized areas Whenever possible the student is provided with the appropriate basic statistics necessary to make some of the analyses The book also builds on itself that is analytical methods learned in early parts of the book are subsequently revisited and used for later analyses A deliberate attempt is made to make complex concepts simple and sometimes to point out that apparently simple concepts are sometimes less so on further investigation Any student taking a genetics course will find this book an invaluable aid to achieving a good understanding of genetic principles and practice Molecular Pathology in Clinical Practice Debra

Understanding and Developing Science Teachers' Pedagogical Content Knowledge John Loughran, Amanda Berry, Pamela Mulhall, 2012-07-31 There has been a growing interest in the notion of a scholarship of teaching Such scholarship is displayed through a teacher's grasp of and response to the relationships between knowledge of content teaching and learning in ways that attest to practice as being complex and interwoven Yet attempting to capture teachers' professional knowledge is difficult because the critical links between practice and knowledge for many teachers is tacit Pedagogical Content Knowledge (PCK) offers one way of capturing articulating and portraying an aspect of the scholarship of teaching and in this case the scholarship of science teaching The research underpinning the approach developed by Loughran Berry and Mulhall offers access to the development of the professional knowledge of science teaching in a form that offers new ways of sharing and disseminating this knowledge Through this Resource Folio approach comprising CoRe and PaP eRs a recognition of the value of the specialist knowledge and skills of science teaching is not only highlighted but also enhanced The CoRe and PaP eRs methodology offers an exciting new way of capturing and portraying science teachers' pedagogical content knowledge so that it might be better understood and valued within the profession This book is a concrete example of the nature of scholarship in science teaching that is meaningful useful and immediately applicable in the work of all science teachers preservice in service and science teacher educators It is an excellent resource for science teachers as well as a guiding text for teacher education Understanding teachers' professional knowledge is critical to our efforts to promote quality classroom practice While PCK offers such a lens the construct is abstract In this book the authors have found an interesting and engaging way of making science teachers' PCK concrete useable and meaningful for researchers and teachers alike It offers a new and exciting way of understanding the importance of PCK in shaping and improving science teaching and learning Professor Julie Gess Newsome Dean of the Graduate School of Education Williamette University This book contributes to establishing CoRes and PaP eRs as immensely valuable tools to illuminate and describe PCK The text provides concrete examples of CoRes and PaP eRs completed in real life teaching situations that make stimulating reading The authors show practitioners and researchers alike how this approach can develop high quality science teaching Dr Vanessa Kind Director Science Learning Centre North East School of Education Durham University
