

An aerial photograph of a highly manicured garden. A large, dense, yellow-green tree stands as the centerpiece. Surrounding it are various other plants, including a tall, thin, dark green cypress tree and several rounded, green shrubs. The garden is filled with vibrant flower beds in shades of red, orange, and yellow. A winding path or driveway is visible on the right side. The overall scene is one of a well-maintained and aesthetically pleasing outdoor space.

The Post-Industrial Landscape as Site for Creative Practice Gwen Heeney, 2018-06-11 This book brings together experts in the fields of art, history, visual arts, music, cultural geography, curatorial practice, and landscape architecture to explore the role of material memory in the post-industrial landscape and the ways in which that landscape can act as a site for many forms of creative practice. It examines the role of material memory in the siting of public artworks and politically inspired installation art within the socio-economic post-industrial landscape. The post-industrial ruin as a place for innovation in the curatorial process is also investigated, as are social memory and the complexities of inscribing memory into places. A number of chapters focus on photography and its important role in recording memory as transformation, abandonment, and erosion. Artists and musicians present personal case studies examining the siting of permanent and temporary artworks which can invoke memory of both culture and place. The land itself and its associated histories of post-industry are explored in artistic terms, investigating dislocation, wasted spaces, and extinction. Landscape architects and cultural geographers explore the aesthetic of the urban ruin, its natural and human ecologies, and the re-wilding of urban spaces. The volume provokes discussion by a group of diverse experts on a very contemporary subject.

Greening the Landscape: Strategies for Environmentally Sound Practice Adam Regn Arvidson, 2012-09-17 A guide to improving the environmental performance of any landscape through the use of green construction and maintenance. Landscapes create obvious environmental benefits but can have unrecognized negative impacts. Adam Regn Arvidson outlines the five primary problem issues: plant pots, vehicle fuel, energy consumption, water, fertilizer use, and green waste, and details a variety of practices ranging from exceedingly simple ideas to long-term investments for making the installation and upkeep of landscapes more green. A companion website, GreeningtheLandscapeBook.com, provides readers with additional resources and case studies arranged by environmental impact and geography.
