7 Dismantling the engine unit: removing the cylinder head and rotor - all models except RM50

1 As mentioned in the previous Section, all models except RM50 make use of CDI ignition systems. The CDI rotor are housed beneath the left-hand cover and should be removed to gain access to a larger central hole in the left-hand cover. Insert a screwdriver into the hole and, applying a steady pressure, push the rotor out of the cover. To ensure the pin is not lost, place the rotor in the frame. See the accompanying diagram for details.

Arrange the gasket on the rotor and remove from the cover. To ensure the rotor is not lost, it is advised to screw the rotor into the cover with the gasket bolt. Then, to be sure, place the rotor in the frame. Screw the Woodruff key into the rotor and push it out of the frame. Screw the Woodruff key into the rotor and push it out of the frame. Screw the Woodruff key into the rotor and push it out of the frame.

Fig. 1.3 CDI rotor pulley

Dismantling the engine unit: removing the gearbox sprocket

If the dismantling work is being carried out as a precursor to crankcase separation, the gearbox sprocket should be removed at this juncture. With the engine in position in the frame, it is easiest to release the sprocket retaining nut with the chain in place and the rear brake applied, as described in Section 3.6 of this Chapter.

With the engine on the workbench, the sprocket can be prevented from rotating by locking the crankshaft with a bar inserted through the connecting rod eye, and selecting top gear. Alternatively, loop the drive chain around the sprocket and clamp the ends with a self-locking wrench. Knock back the locking tabs, and slacken and remove the securing nut, washer and spacer.

8.1a Retaining nut to release sprocket (RM50)

8.2b Pin can be removed after 8 (RM100)

9 Dismantling the engine: crankshaft pinion

- 1 Slacken the retaining outer cover to the rear clutch arm if this is still fixed. Note that the cover is released, and some of the cover is still in the frame.
- 2 If it is necessary to remove the pin, it is still in the frame.
