

CLUSTERS AND CUT-OFF POINTS

What is a subject cluster?

A subject cluster is a set of four KCSE subjects that a candidate must have sat to be eligible for a given Degree programme. For example, the cluster subjects for Health Science courses are Biology, Chemistry, Physics or Mathematics, and English or Kiswahili.

What is a programme cluster?

All Degree programmes that require the same set of four subjects is assigned to a cluster. (A list of Degree programme clusters is available on the KUCCPS Student's Portal students.kuccps.net under Downloads.)

What is a cluster weight?

This is the ranking of a student's performance in a specific subject cluster against all other candidates in the given year of KCSE. It is based on cluster subject requirements and the overall performance of a candidate.

What are cut-off points?

A cut-off point is the cluster weight of the last applicant who was placed the programme by merit. Cut-off points are determined by the performance of the applicants for a degree course and the number of students a university can admit for the course. During processing, the applicants are arranged in a descending order (highest to lowest cluster weight). The applicants take up the slots in that order until the last student is placed. The cluster weight of the last student placed becomes the cut-off point for the programme. The process is automated and KUCCPS cannot predetermine cut-off points.

Higher Education Leadership and Governance in the Development of the Creative and Cultural Industries in Kenya Emily Akuno, Otoyondieki, 2017-05-05 The role of higher education in establishing structures and procedures in society and industry is clearly articulated in scholarly discussions. The narrative has recently taken a new momentum in Kenya with acknowledgement of the creative industry involving many youth as an area that impacts on the economy. In unravelling the link between higher education and industry, the authors focus on leadership and governance in higher education and its expected and perceived contribution to the shaping of the creative industry. Through analysis of cases, the authors interrogate the processes and structures that govern the teaching and practice of the creative subjects, noting how these affect the creative industry in Kenya. This document approaches the creative disciplines from the perspectives of the students, lecturers, and university administrators. The three voices provide a balanced view of what higher creative arts education in Kenya is. The multiple authorship of the book further provides a balanced account of the development of these disciplines in higher education and their growth in industry. The key concepts here are the development of the creative industry and how higher education should contribute to the same.

Equality in Kenya's 2010 Constitution Victoria Miyandazi, 2021-02-25 This book makes a significant contribution to the ongoing global conversations on the various understandings of equality. It illuminates the many ways in which diverse equality guarantees clash or are interrelated. It also sets out principled approaches on how they can be coherently interpreted to address the myriad inequalities in Kenya. Taking a comparative approach, the book considers how other jurisdictions including the United States, United Kingdom, Canada, South Africa, India, and Botswana have approached the conceptualisation, interpretation, and application of various equality concepts. The book focuses on important issues such as transformative constitutionalism in relation to the interpretation of Kenya's 2010 Constitution, expanding the list of enumerated grounds for non-discrimination, affirmative action, accommodating religious and cultural diversity, versus gender equality, the interrelation between socio-economic rights and status-based equality.

The authors review the global literature and add to it by their extensive new analyses of multiple datasets from more than three dozen countries in the region. They integrate findings about what affects children's learning, their access to schooling, and progress through basic education. The book draws lessons from the region and for the region.
