Engineered Nanomaterials for Innovative Therapies and Biomedicine Hemen Sarma, Sonam Gupta, Mahesh Narayan, Ram Prasad, Anand Krishnan, 2022-02-21 Research on biomedical applications of nanomaterials has exhibited the rapidly evolving field of biomedical sciences by showing how effective they are in treatment. These particles hold considerable potential for biomedical applications. Work is ongoing and the results suggest a possibility for a sustainable future for nanomaterials in both therapeutic and biomedical fields. This book highlights current and emerging applications taking global research findings into consideration. We believe the focus on the identification and role of nanomaterial applications in therapeutic and biomedical sciences can lead to novel solutions in the fields. The chapters of this book are disseminated in a manner that can be readily adopted as sources for new and further study. The editors integrate advanced texts in their research that help graduate students, researchers, and professors. Additionally, we believe that international readers will be able to make use of this book for reference purposes. Risk-based examples and approach for control of

Trichinella spp. and Taenia saginata in meat, 2020-06-30 Risk-based examples and approach for control of Trichinella spp. and Taenia saginata in meat Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, World Health Organization, 2020-11-03 Human trichinellosis is caused by the consumption of raw or inadequately treated meat from domestic or game animals containing the larvae of parasites of the Trichinella species. Taenia saginata causes bovine cysticercosis, a parasitic disease of cattle, by the larval stage Cysticercus bovis of the human tapeworm Taenia saginata. Taeniosis, infection of humans with the adult tapeworm, occurs following consumption of beef with cysticerci that has not been sufficiently heated or frozen to kill the parasite. This report provides the spreadsheet models resulting in effective generation of the quantitative information needed by public health officials when evaluating different postmortem meat hygiene programmes for Trichinella spp. and Taenia saginata in meat. The models enable the development of science-based risk scenarios to assess the effect of various changes to digestion testing and meat inspection for Trichinella spp. and Taenia saginata on the residual risk of human trichinellosis and taeniosis. The outcome of estimation is based on changes in relative risks rather than specific estimates of risk. The Training of African Teachers in Natal from 1846-1964 Nicolas Schicketanz, 2024-06-07 The history of African teacher training in Natal is one of the most neglected and under-researched aspects of educational history. This book attempts to set out the administrative history of this field as a first step in stimulating the further research that is so urgently needed. Evolution Education Around the Globe Hasan Deniz, Lisa A. Borgerding, 2018-06-21 This edited book provides a global view on evolution education It describes the state of evolution education in different countries that are representative of geographical regions around the globe such as Eastern Europe Western Europe North Africa South Africa North America South America Middle East Far East South East Asia Australia and New Zealand Studies in evolution education literature can be divided into three main categories a understanding the interrelationships among cognitive affective epistemological and religious factors that are related to peoples views about evolution b designing implementing evaluating evolution education curriculum that reflects contemporary evolution understanding and c reducing antievolutionary attitudes This volume systematically summarizes the evolution education literature across these three categories for each country or geographical region The individual chapters thus include common elements that facilitate a cross cultural meta analysis Written for a primarily academic audience this book provides a much needed common background for future evolution education research across the globe

Being a Teacher in Post-Apartheid South Africa Yusuf Sayed, Marcina Singh, 2025-05-01 In a compelling exploration of the challenges faced by newly qualified teachers NQTs in South Africa s evolving educational landscape this book provides an empirically grounded account of their experiences Drawing on extensive research it offers a poignant narrative that seeks to illuminate the nuanced journey these educators embark upon as they transition from teacher education spaces to the complex reality of classrooms in post Apartheid South Africa The book acts as a crucial platform for the voices of NQTs shedding light on the myriad enablers and disablers they encounter during this transformative period Timely and relevant it tackles pressing questions about the readiness of teacher education to prepare students for the demands of South African schools The book charts the transition from teacher education to active teacher for NQTs The lessons distilled from this research present a clarion call for a re assessment of teacher education policies and practices This book arrives at a pivotal moment as South Africa reviews its teacher education policies With the quality of initial teacher education programmes under scrutiny the book s critiques findings and recommendations serve as indispensable tools for policymakers arguing for the need to reconceptualise South African teacher education policies As South Africa strives to avoid a cycle of developing new teachers only to lose them due to inadequate support this book seeks to support educators policymakers and all those invested in the future of South African education toward creating a more socially just education system recognising the highly unequal society in which teachers work

The Evolution of Endothermy - From Patterns to Mechanisms Elias T. Polymeropoulos, Rebecca Oelkrug, Martin Jastroch, 2018-09-14 Metabolic rate is a key ecophysiological factor determining fitness distribution survival and reproductive strategies of organisms The ability to endogenously produce heat and elevate body temperature beyond ambient has far reaching ecological implications The diversity of thermogenic mechanisms and strategies employed throughout the animal kingdom is truly phenomenal and one of the greatest biological mysteries Interestingly even heat producing plants have been characterised Over the last several decades the oversimplified distinction between warm and cold blooded animals has well and truly been put to rest and the terms endo and ectotherm have been established Birds and mammals are regarded as endotherms capable of maintaining high body temperatures within highly precise boundaries On contrary in ectothermic organisms ambient temperature governs body temperature and metabolism encompassing the majority of present day species However it has recently become very clear that this distinction is still not accurate enough to describe the vastness of heat generating mechanisms within endo but also ectotherms Indeed a plethora of ectothermic animals display endogenous as well as behavioural means of temperature control and mechanisms for heat generation There is large diversity in regards to thermoregulatory ability and strategy within endotherms as well with some groups being classified by separate categories such as basoendotherms and mesotherms Considerable interest and efforts has been put into the quest to understand the underlying physiological mechanisms leading and facilitating high metabolic rates and body temperatures of endotherms These mechanisms are far from being exhaustively studied and the evolutionary trajectory leading to high metabolic rates and stable body temperatures is equally vividly debated This discussion includes an array of questions and theories surrounding the presence of endothermy in extinct dinosaurs In addition a lively debate surrounds the evolutionary drivers promoting the establishment of endothermy with clear support of direct or indirect selective benefits Within this Research Topic we plan to compile the latest ideas knowledge and experimental work to elucidate the patterns of the evolution of endothermy and its transition distinction from ectothermy The focus is on key physiological mechanisms supporting this transition and contributing to the maintenance of high metabolic rates and body temperature in endotherms as well as mechanisms for local heterothermy and heat dissipation in ectotherms These mechanisms and conclusions may be derived from different levels of organisation such as population taxon species as well as tissue cellular or molecular levels It may also encompass novel experimental or theoretical models testing evolutionary theories of endothermy A comparative approach is encouraged but not fundamental

Revisiting State Personhood and World Politics Bianca Naude, 2021-12-16 Breathing fresh air into debates surrounding foreign policy and interstate relations Bianca Naude presents a holistic theory of states as collectives of people that cannot be reduced to their individual constituents Moving among current research on the ontological status of the state alongside important arguments in support of the state personhood thesis Naude begins by exploring Freud s personality theory and the ways in which this theory has evolved over time in response to newer insights from the field of experimental psychology Recognizing that Freud's work is in many ways outdated she considers more recent literature on narcissism as an aspect of self esteem rather than a form of psychopathology drawing specifically on Kohut's expansion of the concept of narcissism as a normal feature of personality development Using the South African state as a case study Naude demonstrates the various ways in which the state presents itself to the outside world on the one hand and how it wishes to see itself on the other She further considers how narcissistic defenses help protect the state's ego from criticism and self judgments

Revisiting State Personhood and World Politics will help readers understand how the state sees itself why or when the state experiences shame humiliation guilt or pride and how it responds to these self conscious emotions It will be a valuable resource to researchers and students of International Relations

The Legacy of a Troubled Past Bernard Cros, Mathilde

Rogez, Gilles Teulie, 2022-06-07 Since the advent of democracy in 1994 South Africa has been engaged in an unprecedented exercise of national soul searching torn between the need to lay to rest centuries of racial conflict and the desire to come to terms with its traumatic history This book asks whether the country has begun to turn the corner on the legacy of collective hurt To do so it ranges in scope across 350 years of South African history encompassing the struggle against the apartheid regime the downfall of white supremacy the Truth and Reconciliation Commission and the first 25 years of democracy up to more recent movements such as RhodesMustFall or the inquests into the 2012 Marikana massacre that point to the persistence of traumatic memory in contemporary society The authors assembled here set out to analyse the representation of such memory how it has been woven into narratives recorded preserved and questioned and how issues of individual and collective responsibility have been grafted onto it through the visual arts literature political discourse and public action In focusing on memory along with its derived forms of memorialization collective memory nostalgia or post memory our contributors pose a fundamental question is South Africa finally coming to the end of the post apartheid transition period Do the decades of memory work on racial violence and repression examined here hold out hope for the nation to make peace with its past

The Political Economy of Energy in Sub-Saharan Africa Lucky E. Asuelime, Andrew Emmanuel

Okem, 2017-09-29 A deepening ecological crisis is rearing its head in sub Saharan Africa as it faces a myriad of challenges in regards to the development of its energy sector The dirty now and clean up later approach to the environment has a strong appeal particularly because it is often thought of as the last place to try to edge in another priority especially if that priority is perceived by many to be an economic luxury Asuelime and Okem bring together a team of specialist contributors who investigate to what extent sub Saharan Africa has displayed foresight or politico economic integrity The book shows the state's ability to meet the demands of provision of energy in sub Saharan Africa has led to heavy investments in infrastructure transmission and distribution of energy to the citizens However the inefficiencies corruption and unhealthy bureaucratic challenges that accompany this have led urgent problems which will be thoroughly explored in this book The Political Economy of Energy in Sub Saharan Africa will be of interest to students and scholars of African Studies Development Studies
