Altieri, 2016-11-25 Contemporary agriculture is often criticized for its industrial scale adverse effects on nutrition rural employment and the environment and its disconnectedness from nature and culture Yet there are many examples of traditional smaller scale systems that have survived the test of time and provide more sustainable solutions while still maintaining food security in an era of climate change This book provides a unique compilation of this forgotten agricultural heritage and is based on objective scientific evaluation and evidence of the value of these systems for present and future generations The authors refer to many of these systems as Globally Important Agricultural Heritage Systems GIAHS and show how they are related to the concepts of heritage and the World Heritage Convention They demonstrate how GIAHS based on family farms traditional indigenous knowledge and agroecological

Anthropologica, 1999 Grape Man of Texas Roy Renfro, 2008-10-01 Grape Man of Texas is the first biography of Thomas Volney Munson, 1843-1913, the internationally recognized horticulturist who developed over 300 new varieties of grapes, some of which are still grown today on almost every continent. He is perhaps best known for his work in fighting the phylloxera epidemic of the late nineteenth century, which nearly destroyed the world's vineyards. His solution, grafting vinifera onto certain resistant native rootstocks from Texas, earned him the Chevalier du Merite Agricole in the French Legion of Honor and numerous accolades. This second edition introduces new insights into the phylloxera period. Munson's many papers and publications, and his far-sighted grasp of the needs of twentieth-century agriculture and transportation, are detailed. It details the continuing influence of both his research and his hybrid grapes on modern viticulture and new varieties of vitis that have been bred from them around the world. The Work and Play of the Mind in the Information Age Phillip

Kalantzis-Cope, 2017-09-23 This book tells a series of living stories about a domain of social activity: the work and play of the mind in a particular historical epoch, the information age. The stories concern political processes and movements as varied as the World Trade Organization's Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights, China's Great Firewall, practices of image sharing in social media, Occupy Wall Street, The Arab Spring, The Alt Right, and the use of geographical indications by indigenous peoples and farmers to defend their lifestyles. In its theoretical analysis, the book illuminates four alternative political agendas for the work and play of the mind. These four propertyscapes represent competing visions for social life, framing projects for collective political action that are at times competing, at times overlapping. The author prompts us to consider whose property is the work and play of the mind, as well as addressing larger questions regarding the framing of political space, the kinds of political communities we may need for the future, and the changing place of the work and play of the mind within these social imaginaries. The book will be of interest to students and scholars across a range of disciplines, including media and communications, arts and design, law, politics, and interdisciplinary social sciences. The Wine
